POLICING NEED URGED IN WEEKS' LETTER

Aviator's Intrusion Upon
Memorial Day Ceremony
Stirs Strong Protest.

WASHINGTON, June 2.—The commercial aviator who joined unbidden in the dedication ceremonies Tuesday at Lincoln Memorial has awakened a train of official reflection which may end in comprehensive national legislation for policing the air. Secretary Weeks of the war department has written the President suggesting that congress be asked to enact a code of "air rules of the road." It is possible that pending measures may be so amended as to put a stop to indiscriminate "sight-seeing trips" over the heads of public gatherings.

The department believes they have identified the offending pilot as a reserve army officer, and Secretary Weeks holds that he was guilty not only of disturbing a solemn public ceremony but also of showing gross disrespect for the President of the United States. Department officials say that not even a court-martial would be necessary in these circumstances to take away a reserve commission.

ATHENS CLUB TO SELECT SITE

The officers of the Athens Athletic Club united last evening in an appeal urging all members to be present at the meeting to be held at the Hotel Oakland this evening.

"This is the most important meeting that has been held by the club and it is our wish that every member should be represented," says a statement issued. "Inasmuch as the matter of a site for the new club will come up for decision. Three sites have been submitted and will be voted upon on the floor. The directors wish to please the members in the matter of a site."

The meeting will bring to a close a spirited campaign which has been on for the past month for the purpose of bringing the membership rolls up to 3000. At the present time over 2700 members have signed and paid their initial dues, and it is believed that the 3000 quota will be reached by the time the meeting closes this evening.

PLAN "AMERICAN NIGHT."

As a climax to a series of "nationality nights," when the residents of each nation held festival, the Athens Athletic Club will hold "American Night" tonight, with a program of sports and games and every national flag flying from the clubhouse.

E. F. Garrison will be chairman of the evening.

U. S. STEEL CAN'T GAIN MONOPOLY, DECLARES GARY

Tells of Finances of Billion-Dollar Concern, Morgan's Connection.

NEW YORK, June 2.—(By International News Service.)—Even a campaign of ruthless competition could not give the great billion-dollar United States Steel Corporation an absolute monopoly of the iron and steel business of the United States, E. H. Gary, chairman of the United States Steel Corporation's executive board, told the Lockwood legislative investigating committee today.

The committee is investigating the merger of four or more independent steel companies. Gary was questioned by Samuel Undermyer, counsel for the Lockwood committee, regarding the proposed Lackawanna-Bethlehem and the three-company merger announced by Thomas L. Chadbourne, when he took the witness stand today.

BELIEVES IN PUBLICITY.

Gary told Undermyer he would be glad to furnish the committee with any of the records of the United States Steel Corporation, declaring the corporation was a believer in "publicity."

In response to Undermyer's query, the steel head said the corporation's outstanding stock issues amount to $350,000,000, of which $350,000,000 is preferred and that bond issues of the companies total $600,000,000.

GARY ADMITTED THAT THE United States Steel Corporation had an advantage of $3 a ton in the selling price of steel products over independent producers because of the advantages in transportation facilities.

COMPETITION LESSENED.

The steel head declared that bidding for structural steel will be limited by the proposed mergers of different steel companies, and admitted that competition had been lessened by the formation of the United States Steel Corporation.

GARY DECLARED IN REPLY TO Undermyer's questions that J. P. Morgan & Company "certainly did not" direct the United States Steel Corporation and that J. P. Morgan alone was not instrumental in appointments of directors and the finance committee, the most important committee of the organization. Under repeated and insistent questioning by the Lockwood committee, Gary admitted that the suggestion of J. P. Morgan was sought before such appointments were made.

THE BANK BALANCE OF THE steel corporation, Gary testified, on January first of this year was $125,000,000. Of this amount $8,000,000 was on deposit with J. P. Morgan & Company, and the steel corporation received 2.6 per cent interest.

San Rafael Kennel Club to Hold Show

Oakland dog fanciers in large numbers are reported making their entries in the second annual kennel show to be held under the auspices of the San Rafael Kennel Club on Sunday, June 11, at San Rafael.

Alameda and Berkeley fanciers have also responded and indications are that between 275 and 300 entries will be received by Superintendent John B. Holbrook, 925 Market street, San Francisco, by tomorrow evening, at which time the entry list officially closes.

The show will be held under the rules of the American Kennel Club. The judges will be Robert Nolan, Dan Shuttleworth and Charles G. Gilbert.

Eighty Men Saved From Doomed Ship

SYDNEY, N. S. W., June 2 (By International News Service).—Eighty seamen on board the stranded British steamship Wiltshire on Great Barrier reef, who appeared to be doomed to death yesterday, were rescued today.

BENEFIT TO AID COLONISTS WHO GO TO RUSSIA

To raise a fund for the purchase of machinery for the California Agricultural Community, which is to leave for southern Russia this month, there is to be a grant of land made to it by the Soviet government, an entertainment and dance will be given at Fidelity Hall, Berkeley, tomorrow night. Russian tea and refreshments will be served.

The committee in charge of the entertainment states that just as, in the days of '49, oxen, horses, plows and harrows were supplied to those who set forth to the land of promise, so it is planned to provide those who intend to settle in the Don region of southern Russia with tractors, harvesters, wind motors and dynamo.

The members of the party, which includes several residents of the San Francisco Bay region, are taking with them sufficient food to last a year. Friends are also supplying them with an extensive library.

The "trek" to Russia is in the nature of an experiment between the settlers and the Soviet government. The Soviet is anxious to introduce up-to-date American methods of tillage, and to show the peasants what can be achieved in mass production with modern machinery. The Americans will work the land and grant them in one of Russia's most fertile districts, on a communal basis.

Motorcycle Club Arranges Thrills

"Polo, chariot race, balloon breaking, card sparring, trick riding and bucking," reads the announcement—no, not the Livermore rodeo committee, but of the Oakland Motorcycle Club, which holds its annual outing and reunion at Idora Park Sunday afternoon.

The chariot race is something new and exciting, originating with the local motorcycle club, according to Charles Bulger, chairman of the committee of arrangements.

Thrills are promised in the motorcycle polo game between Oakland and Santa Clara.

Captain Dewey Jeffers, F. L. Coogan and Al Thomsen are assisting Bulger in arranging the program, which starts in the stadium promptly at 2:15 o'clock Sunday afternoon.

L. A. BALLOONISTS BATTLE 8 HOURS AGAINST DEATH

Two Almost Thrown Into Lake By Gale in National Aero Contest.

BAY CITY, Mich., June 2.—A message was received by Fred C. Westover this afternoon from his brother, Major Oscar Westover, one of the contestants in the "balloon race out of Milwaukee, May 31. Major Westover said his balloon landed near Metabetchewan, Lake St. John, province of Quebec. Westover landed during a squall in a dense wood after having thrown overboard all his ballast.

CLEVELAND, June 2.—Lieutenant James T. Neely, pilot of army balloon number five in the national race from Milwaukee, and his aide, James B. Jordan, both of Ross Field, near Los Angeles, made a desperate fight for their lives when they landed at Dover Village, west of here, last night, after trying for eight hours to make a landing. A terrific wind blowing from the east over the Great Lakes region is held by these flyers responsible for forcing them out of the race.

To keep from dropping into Lake Erie, Lieutenant Neely said he and his aide threw out almost all of their food supply, cut loose all but two of the twenty-two sand bags of ballast they carried, threw overboard all of their instruments and even cut pieces from their fur coats and tossed them from the basket.

ALMOST IN LAKE.

They first made several attempts to land at Ashtabula. The wind caught them, Neely said, and to save themselves from the lake they began throwing food and other articles overboard. When the wind died down a bit they tried to land again but the wind caught them and almost threw them into the water.

"That's when we put on our life belts," Lieutenant Neely continued. "For a minute or two we had just about resigned ourselves, but we made it. We cut pieces off our coats, threw our instruments away and up we went."

The helium-filled navy balloon piloted by Lieutenant-Commander J. P. Norfleet landed yesterday near Hancock, Pulaski county, Missouri. The navy department was advised early today. Commander Norfleet reported that he was forced to descend by a leaking gas bag. A later telegram from Lieutenant-Commander Norfleet stated that his balloon had traveled 425 miles. This was thought here to be the farthest of any yet reported.

THREE STILL IN AIR.

CHICAGO, Ill., June 2.—(By the Associated Press.)—Three entries in the national balloon race which started from Milwaukee on Wednesday presumably still were in the air at noon today. No reports of their whereabouts had been received at that hour. The balloonists still unaccounted for were Major Oscar Westover, in an army balloon; Lieutenant W. F. Reed, in a naval craft, and H. E. Honeywell, civilian of St. Louis.

HOOVER REACHES AGREEMENT ON PRICES OF COAL

Operators in Western Kentucky, Small Minority, Refuse Rates.

WASHINGTON, June 2.—With conferences looking to a price agreement for their district still to be held with the operators of producing fields in Pennsylvania, Secretary Hoover has secured the agreement of operators producing 80 per cent of the bituminous coal now being mined to a maximum price of $3.50 a ton at the mine for the duration of the strike.

In making this announcement last night, Hoover said he regretted that a small minority of the operators—representing western Kentucky—had refused to cooperate and were demanding $4.25 a ton, a price which, he said, he did not feel justified in asking the public to accept. The conferences with Pennsylvania operators have been arranged for next week, he said.

MANY OPERATORS ACCEPT.

The $3.50 maximum has been accepted by the operators of Virginia, West Virginia, Tennessee and eastern Kentucky. Hoover said he had been advised, while the rate of 25 cents a ton below the Garfield scale has been accepted by the Alabama operators.

In purchasing spot coal—the prices not affecting coal under contract—consumers can insure themselves a square deal, Hoover said, by checking freight rates together with the maximum price established and making proper allowance for retail distribution cost. Consumers not receiving fair treatment as to prices may appeal to the department of commerce, he said, with assurance that an inquiry into their cases will be instituted.

COAL PRICE RISES.

CHICAGO, June 2.—Increases of 25 to 50 cents a ton for coal on the retail market yesterday were forerunners of further advances after existing supplies are exhausted, according to leading dealers today.

Retailers declared the rise was one of the results of the Washington conference of coal operators Wednesday when Secretary Hoover approved a maximum price of $3.50 a ton for spot coal at the West Virginia mines. These retailers predicted that West Virginia coal would go to $4 a ton within a few days, an advance of $1.15.

HAVE NEW PROPOSAL.

NEW YORK, June 2 (By International News Service).—An announcement was made here today that the anthracite operators would present a new set of counter proposals to the striking miners this afternoon in an effort to end the coal strike.

S. F. ROMANCE CULMINATES IN AUSTRIA

SAN RAFAEL, June 1.—A romance which began two years ago beneath the palms of San Francisco's hotels and ended recently in an elaborate church wedding in Vienna, Austria, was told in a cablegram received today by Justice of the Peace Herman Rudloff, of Novato, announcing the marriage of his daughter, Miss Eveline Rudloff, to Dr. Jur Alfons Oswald, scion of a wealthy European family and prominent physician of Vienna.

The couple met during the doctor's visit in San Francisco two years ago. Several months ago Miss Rudloff departed for Europe but it was not until yesterday's telegram was received that even the bride's most intimate friends were made aware of the purpose of her journey. The couple will spend their honeymoon in Italy, the mes-sage said.

S. F. FAST RACERS LEAD TITLE LIST

INDIANAPOLIS, June 2 (By the Associated Press).—Jimmy Murphy, of San Francisco, winner of the national 500-mile automobile race here Tuesday, is well on his way to the driving championship of the United States for 1922. He already has a total of 2050 points, several more than that which gave the title to Tommy Milton last year. Milton has not scored a point this year.

Harry Hartz, also of San Francisco, is second in the contest for the championship, having 1200 points. Hartz was second in the race here. Frank Elliott, another pilot from the coast, is third with 375 points.

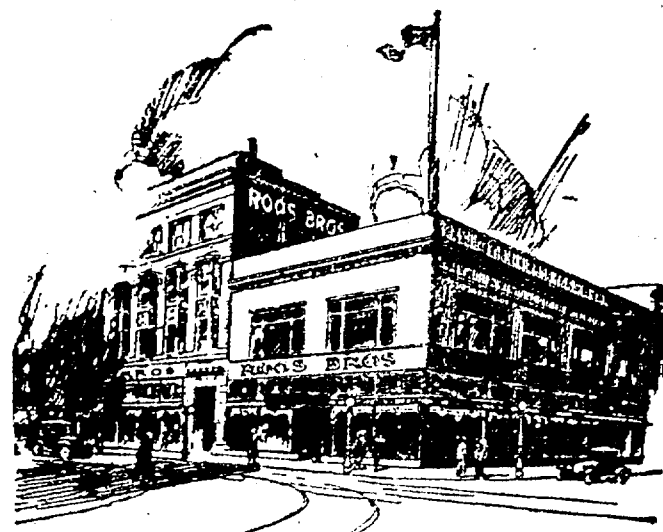

First place in Tuesday's race gave Murphy 1000 points, and Hartz, who took second place, got 520. Eddie Hearne, who finished third, added 270 to his total, giving him 320 for this year to date.

The standing of the various drivers for the 1922 title, as given out at the Indianapolis motor speedway yesterday, is as follows:

Jimmy Murphy, 2050; Harry Hartz, 1200; Frank Elliott, 375; Pietro Bordino, 193; Ralph de Palma, 155; Roscoe Squires, 140; Art Klein, 127; Joe Thomas, 112; Jerry wonderlich, 103; Ora Halbe, 90; I. P. Fetterman, 50; Ira Vall, 40; Tom Alley, 35; Peter de Paolo, 28; Eddie Miller, 25.

STRIKE VACATES 800 HOMES.

MORE RAILWAY PAY REDUCTIONS BELIEVED NEAR

If Transportation Men Receive Slash Nationwide Strike Is Predicted.

WASHINGTON, June 2.—(By International News Service.)—The next wage reduction order of the railway labor board at Chicago will provide for slashes in the pay of more than a million additional railway workers, including not only the shop crafts, but all employees except those who are members of the "big four" transportation brotherhoods, it was learned authoritatively today. The new reductions will average five cents an hour and are expected to take effect on July 1, like those already ordered for the maintenance of way employees.

WAGE CUTS PROPOSED.
Although slight changes may be made in the labor board's schedule before the forthcoming order is issued, latest reports are that the new cuts would be as follows:

Five cents per hour for supervising clerks, freight handlers, switchboard operators, messengers, office boys and mail distributors, station employees, janitors, laborers in and around stations and warehouses, gate men, train announcers, ticket examiners, telegraphers, lever men, agents at smaller stations, stationary firemen and gilders.

Four to six cents per hour for ordinary clerks.

Seven cents per hour for mechanics listed as shopcraft workers.

Five cents per hour for helpers and apprentices in shopcrafts.

After these pay cuts are ordered by the labor board, it will still have under consideration demands of the railroads for reductions in the wages of members of the "big four" transportation brotherhoods. Officials here expect that similar cuts will be offered in the pay of engineers, firemen, conductors and others in this classification.

Railroad labor leaders are unanimous in their belief that a nationwide transportation tie-up is inevitable as a protest against these pay reductions, but there are differences of opinion as to when the strike will be most effective. It is pointed out that the workers themselves have been clamoring for a strike during the past several months and that strike votes are certain to yield an almost unanimous demand for an immediate walkout.

In planning for a nationwide strike, however, those directing the suspension of work will take into consideration the present strike of 500,000 union coal miners and the effect of the mine tie-up upon any steps taken by the railroad unions. If the railroad men should decide to go out within the next three months they probably will join forces with the miners, precipitating the biggest strike in the world's history and virtually paralyzing industry in the United States.

Making Records in Coal Production

LONDON, June 2.—While America is experiencing a coal strike, Great Britain is making records in coal production. For the week ended April 29 Great Britain's coal output, according to the Board of Trade Journal, was 5,160,000 tons, the largest output in any week since the end of the British coal strike in July. Coal prices range between 20 and 60 shillings a ton, according to the grade. Best coal is two shillings a hundredweight delivered. There have been two reductions of two shillings six pence a ton during the last few weeks.

Nature Loves Bright Colors

We see the truth of this statement in the varicolored flowers, the vivid sunsets, the birds of brilliant plumage. But we never see it exemplified more attractively than in the person of a splendidly healthy woman. How does nature paint this health? Why, in the rosy cheeks, the transparent skin, the smooth red lips of such a woman. And she molds it in firm flesh and rounded contours. The ailing woman is defiant in natural coloring, and she does not even appear to advantage in clothes that would set off her more attractive sister. Many women who long for glowing health will find that they, too, can have these charms if they will give a trial to that remedy which brings strength to frail women—Lyle's Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.—Advertisement.

Starlight

Kath McQuinn-Gibson

Virginia Fairfax, daughter of the first family of Virginia, rebel against the puritanical rule of her grandfather, and lived by filmland, runs away to become a motion picture actress. Arriving in Los Angeles, she meets Gloria Summers, who is in the movies. They become warm friends. They meet Horatio Richardson, who has been interested in Gloria. He marries Gloria. News came of the serious illness of Kitty Dalton—the direct result of a wild party. To prevent a scandal, Gloria volunteered to take Kitty out of town and care for her. After a severe illness, during which Kitty won Virginia's sincere regard, Virginia recovered. Theodore Stratton has promised her a place in his cast. Virginia found herself given a very important place in the Stratton picture. Kitty again warned Virginia with being in love with Stratton and warned her.

AT THE STUDIO.

"Kitty, please don't say again that I am in love. Can't you understand that Theodore Stratton and I are only friends."

"Oh this platonic business—huh! I have never understood what old Plato was getting at. He was a man, wasn't he? If he was," averred Kitty, "he knew he was going to get a lot of men and women into trouble by this stuff he stands for. Oh, I forgot, John Storm wants to know if we will come out to his house and spend the day next Sunday. How about it?"

"Not really, Kitty?"
"Why not?"
"Why, he is a minister!"
"What has that got to do with it? He said we could go to church and listen to him in the morning, or stay at home and rest, while ever we wanted. And he explained that listening to him would put me to sleep anyway. I told him we would come, though."
"Kitty, why do you talk to me of Theodore Stratton when you know that your case with John Storm is much worse and likely to be much more tragic in the end."
Kitty's face clouded and she was covered with contrition. "I hastened to tacitly apologize. 'Don't think, Kitty, dear, that if you love John Storm you are not good enough for him or any other man. But I am just thinking of that jealous world outside.'"

"Oh, I know, Virgie, I know. But I just can't help it. He is so splendid and so honest. And, Virgie, I think I really think, he likes me a little."

"Of course he does, Kitty, because you are splendid and honest, too."

"I would make him a good wife," she whispered wistfully—almost to herself. "And I can't understand any difference between our cases at all. The trouble with me is that any fault if Theodore Stratton—who has had many, many love affairs and whose deputation in regard to women is the worst possible—marrying me, my dear. And, Virgie, you are the sweetest, most innocent girl I have ever known. They should turn his thumbs down when I ask for grace because, when I was as innocent as you are, I loved a man well enough to give my soul into his keeping and he, having tired of it, just naturally gave it to the wind to pick and tear to pieces. Oh, come on, I am going to have liver and onions tonight."

How like Kitty that was. She wouldn't allow herself to be anything but prosaic for more than five minutes at a time. Poor child! Her life's tragedy must have cut deeper than I thought.

Jack Thompson joined us at the little Chinese restaurant over our liver and onions and his incoherent, sentimental gossip was exactly the thing we needed. "It sent us both home to bed and to sleep. I spent the next day buying clothes. It was so nice to have enough money again. Kitty had transferred $1000 of Rita's money to my account in the bank. I felt like checking against it for what I wanted and to pay her when I could."

The clothes I bought were what I liked and thought that Theo would want me to wear. I felt my face grow hot as I realized that already I was using a diminutive of Theodore Stratton's name.

"Theo, Theo," I repeated caressingly. I must have murmured his name aloud, for the salesgirl said: "I beg your pardon, I didn't understand."

This brought me back to earth and as soon as possible I finished my shopping list and, having found that the sport suit I needed for the morning fitted me perfectly, I told them I would take it with me, the others to be sent the next day. On my way home I gave an order that there should be an extra lock put on my apartment. I determined that I should prepare myself against thieves in the future. But, alas, I forgot to lock up my heart!

The first two days at the studio I had very little to do except, as Mr. Stratton said: "To be my own sweet self."

Maud Sanson became more and more indifferent every hour until at the end of the second day she would not even speak to me. It became harder and harder for me to act unconscious of her snubs—particularly in scenes which we had together. As she grew colder, Theodore Stratton grew more friendly and I began to understand what Kitty meant when she said that the director would probably elaborate my part per Theo's direction.

The afternoon of the second day I found myself more in evidence as regarded the close-up than the script had promised when I first read it.

"You'll stay for the rushes, Miss Winston," Theo called to me as I started for my dressing room. We can see those shots taken yesterday on the screen tonight."

"Oh, are we going to see ourselves tonight?" I stopped still and exclaimed eagerly.

"See ourselves as others see us," broke in Maud Sanson sourly.

Horse Racing Is Resumed By Russ

Moscow, June 2.—For the first time in five years horse racing has been resumed in Moscow. The opening meet was attended by a huge crowd despite the entrance fee being 1,000,000 rubles. The women present were clothed in the latest fashions, and the new bourgeoisie rivalled the soviet aristocrats in the art of spending money. Much business was done at the totalisator, bets being transacted in almost astronomical figures.

GHOST CITY AT NASHVILLE WILL BE PERMANENT
Nashville's industrial suburb, Old Hickory, which sprang up overnight during the war only to become a "ghost" city when the armistice was signed, is slowly becoming a permanent industrial site. It is receiving serious consideration for various other purposes, too, including that of a location for a new vocational training school to be built by the Veterans' bureau. Old Hickory, where the world's largest steam plant was in operation shortly before the war closed, cost the government $87,000,000. It has 3867 residents sufficient to house 30,000 people. There are 1112 factory buildings, 64 miles of standard railway track and 44 miles of tram track on the grounds. It was perhaps the biggest powder plant in the world when the war ended.

The Nashville Industrial Corporation, composed of people in the city, bought the plant November 22, 1920. Since then four new industries, a pulp and paper plant, a motor and body works, a cement factory and a starch and syrup plant, have been established at Old Hickory.

PILOT'S LEG BROKEN.
SAN FRANCISCO, June 2.—Charles Moss of 272 Randall street, pilot of a newspaper tug, suffered a broken leg and other injuries today when he was struck by a 60-pound bundle of paper, which fell from a slide to the boat of Pier 24. He was treated at the Harbor hospital.

FLOOD IN YUKON WHEN MERCURY CLIMBS TO 92

DAWSON CITY, Y. T., June 2.—The last remnants of winter's ice are melting so rapidly in the Yukon river and its tributaries that floods are reported in many sections with the warmest May weather ever experienced in the territory. Three days ago it was 85 in the shade in Dawson and 92 at Hazelton, which beats the previous May record by 5 degrees.

The Klondike river overflowed at Rock levee, which protects Bear creek and its machine shops. Lower stories of road houses, shops, barns and residences are flooded. The inhabitants moved to upper stories or to the hills, while the whole town was covered with a uniform depth of two feet of water. The waters are receding today and the worst is over.

New arrivals bring news of a rich new strike on Tom Katling's claim, at the foot of Keno hill. It is a vein of high grade ore six feet wide.

Plant Quarantine Rules Discussed

SACRAMENTO, June 2.—Differences between the California nurserymen and county horticultural commissioner's associations over the proposal of the latter body to prohibit the movement of root-grafted vines from counties infested with phylloxera were ironed out in a joint conference here yesterday when it was agreed to refer the matter to the legislative committee of both bodies with power to act.

Request that a quarantine be placed in movement of vines from infested counties had already been made by G. H. Hecke, director of agriculture.

The conference of the western plant quarantine board continued with discussion of quarantine problems. Request that the quarantine on alfalfa meal from Idaho and Utah be lifted was made by representatives from these states, which met with a protest from Lee A. Strong, chief of the bureau of plant quarantine of the California department of agriculture.

Visiting delegates were tendered an informal reception last night at the home of George H. Hecke, in Yolo county.

WAR DEBT CANCELLATION.

KERN KLANSMAN DECLARED GUILTY ON TWO CHARGES

First Trial of Alleged Raider
Results in Prompt Conviction.

BAKERSFIELD, June 2.—William Pickens, Klansman, was found guilty yesterday on charges of assaulting and robbing Clyde Richey, taxicab owner. Pickens was alleged to have been one of four masked men who attacked and robbed Richey after luring him into an alley. The jury was out 30 minutes.

This was the first trial since the grand jury began its investigation of the Ku Klux Klan in Kern county. The grand jury indicted Pickens on charges of assault and robbery along with William and Elmer J. Collier, said to be members of the make his Henry D. Reynolds, exalted cyclops of the Klan.

Both charges on which Pickens was convicted are punishable by prison terms. Judge J. W. Mahon set Monday as the time when Pickens is to appear for sentence. The first count on which Pickens was charged, that of robbery, was not changed by the jury in its verdict, but the jury found him guilty of assault with a deadly weapon instead of guilty of assault with intent to kill.

Pickens' attorneys did not attempt to clear him of complicity in the Richey attack, but contended that the "committee" which attacked Richey did not intend to murder or rob him.

COBURN QUITS KLAN.
LOS ANGELES, June 2.—William S. Coburn, recently removed from the office of grand goblin of the Pacific domain of the Ku Klux Klan and made king kleeagle for California by the supreme officers of that organization at Atlanta, Ga., will sever his connections with the Klan Saturday, according to a telegram received here by W. G. Price, former king kleeagle in this state.

The telegram, which was signed by Coburn, was dated at Atlanta, according to Price, and instructed the latter to make his reports to that city until Saturday, when the message continued. Coburn would quit the organization. No explanation was given of the contemplated move.

Coburn recently was summoned to Atlanta to discuss the Klan situation in California with the organization's supreme officers. A few days after he arrived there the announcement was made that all kleeagles in California would be removed and Coburn made king kleeagle for the state instead of grand goblin for the Pacific domain, comprising six western states.

The Los Angeles county grand jury plans to resume tomorrow its investigation into Klan activities before the trial of the indicted raid of April 22. Among the witnesses subpoenaed for tomorrow are C. R. Isham, Coburn's personal secretary, and Dwight Mason, said to have been subjected to outrages by night riders at Taft, Cal.

SAYS 14 YEARS OF RHEUMATISM HAS BEEN ENDED

Los Angeles Woman is Overjoyed at Remarkable
Recovery. Gives
Tanlac Full Credit—
Gains 18 Pounds in Weight.

"I am at last free of rheumatism that has troubled me for the past fourteen years, and I am so happy because I feel like a young girl again," was the remarkable statement of Mrs. Edward Seybold, 649 Gladys avenue, Los Angeles, Calif.

"For the past four years I have been in almost constant suffering. The pains in my left side and hips were awful and my arms hurt so bad I could hardly move them. My feet were badly swollen and at night when I went to bed I dreamed that my whole body was racked with pain. My nerves were shattered and I lost so much sleep, weight and strength that I was almost helpless, and I tried medicines and treatments of every description without getting any relief.

"But Tanlac gave me the happiest surprise of my life, for it rid me entirely of the rheumatism, built me up fifteen pounds in weight, and I am now in better health than I have been for fourteen years."

Tanlac is sold by all good druggists.—Advertisement.

The delegates who have been associated in putting across the important program during the past season will assemble at 10 a. m. for the business meeting which will definitely close the administration of Mrs. Peter J. Mrs. Kramer during the two years of her office as executive has given to the federation a splendid chapter of achievements and placed it in the foremost ranks of similar organizations in California. Her retirement was made necessary by reason of constitutional limitations upon the terms of service. Mrs. F. V. Vollmer has been elected to succeed Mrs. Kramer. The annual election of officers in the Oakland School Women's Club this week named Miss Edna White as the successor to Miss Joyce Lobner, who is completing an active term as president of the group of 800 members. ## Three-Minute Quake Is Felt in Spokane

SPOKANE, June 2.—An earthquake, lasting three minutes, was felt by numerous householders of this city yesterday, and was recorded on the seismograph of Gonzaga university. Reports were received from many parts of the city and from outlying districts to the east and west. Some reports said the shocks were accompanied by heavy rumbling. Dishes were rattled and in one instance a chimney was reported damaged.

40,000,000-YEAR- OLD DINOSAUR GRAVE SOUGHT

CHICAGO, June 2.—A party of hunters equipped only with pickaxe and chisel departed for Canada last night in search of the skeleton of a 40,000,000-year-old dinosaur. The party was sent out by the Field Museum and expects to be gone all summer.
Hunting for dinosaurs is very much like prospecting for minerals, according to J. B. Abbott, one of the party. Often times fragments of bone are found in a wash which comes from some distance, and these are traced back to the mother rock and digging for the skeleton is begun
there, he said.

The present expedition is preparatory to another which will be made to Patagonia in the fall.

Diaz' Nephew Will Lead Mexico Rising

NEW ORLEANS, June 2.—General Felix Diaz, nephew of Porfirio
Diaz, former president of Mexico, will return to Mexico to "assume personal leadership of a revolution," according to a statement which an article in the Times-Picayune today says was given to that newspaper last night by Guillermo Rose, confidential secretary of General Diaz.

IF KIDNEYS ACT BAD TAKE SALTS

Says Backache is sign you have been eating too much meat

When you wake up with backache and dull misery in the kidney region it generally means you have been eating too much meat, says a well known authority. Meat contains uric acid which overworks
the kidneys in their effort to filter it from the blood and they become sort of paralyzed and loggy. When your kidneys get sluggish and clogged you must like you relieve your bowels; removing all the body's urinous waste, else you have backache, sick headache, dizzy spells; your stomach sour, tongue is coated, and when the weather is bad you have rheumatic twinges.
The urine is cloudy, full of sediment, channels often get sore, water scalds and you are obliged to seek relief two or three times during the night.

Either consult a good, reliable physician at once or get from your pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to clean and stimulate sluggish kidneys; also to neutralize acids in the urine so it no longer irritates thus ending bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is a life saver for regular meat eaters. It is inexpensive, cannot injure and makes a delicious, effervescent lithia-water drink.

Garthwaite 50 Years in Oakland Bank of Savings

PRESIDENT W. W. GARTHWAITE of Oakland Bank of Savings, whose golden anniversary was noted today by bank employees.

Employees Honor President in Celebration of Golden Jubilee.

Employees of the Oakland Bank of Savings today feted W. W. Garthwaite, president of the institution, on the fiftieth anniversary of his connection with the bank.

With his desk and office banked with floral tributes from the employees the president who has spent half a century in the local institution, was presented with testimonials from the members of the banking force.

Garthwaite was presented with a gold mounted ink set and a book containing the names, signatures and record of position and service of every employee of the bank.

In commenting upon the long term of service, Garthwaite said that when he entered the bank as note clerk in 1872 he was one of five workers, the other being the president, cashier, bookkeeper and teller.

At that time the deposits of the bank amounted to $250,000. Today the bank employs 250 persons and the deposits are more than $43,000,000.

The growth of the Oakland Bank of Savings and its record was attributed by the other speakers to the character and activity of its officers and employees. The one outstanding figure in all the progress was pointed to as Garthwaite who rose from note clerk to president.

AMUNDSEN SHIP WILL START FOR POLE TOMORROW

Power Schooner Maud Takes On Supplies for Five to Seven-Year Cruise.

SEATTLE, June 2.—The Maud, Captain Hjalmar Amundsen's auxiliary power schooner, in which he will attempt to drift, ice-locked, across the North Pole, will leave here tomorrow at 3:30 p. m. for Nome and the Arctic. Today her crew of eleven men is rushing final preparations in loading equipment and food supplies for the trip, which is expected to take from five to seven years.

Captain Amundsen will not leave on his ship, but will sail on the Victoria for Nome and rejoin the Maud there with 25 husky dogs and fur garments and robes.

The Maud, named for the Queen of Norway, will carry two air-planes, a radio outfit with a sending limit of 3000 miles, and scientific material for the most exhaustive research into the Polar mysteries yet made. Music and news from broadcasting stations at Nome will entertain the scientists when the Maud begins to drift this fall in the Polar current which Amundsen believes passes over the top of the world.

When the Maud swallows up the little vessel, Captain Oscar Westing will be in command on the bridge. Dr. H. Sverdrup, meteorologist and student of oceanography, will be in charge of the expedition's scientific activities, assisted by F. Malmgren.

The Curtis biplane and the J-1 all metal monoplane will be piloted by Lieutenants Oscar Omdahl and G. Dahl, both formerly of the Norwegian government service. The radio outfit, one of the finest ever installed, even on an ocean liner, will be manned by T. M. Olmkin, who will also act as chief engineer. S. Syvertsen will be assistant engineer, with Carl Hanson utility man.

MRS. LAW TO SPEAK. ALAMEDA, June 2.—Mrs. Frank G. Law will speak before the women of Alameda at the home of Mrs. H. Hauch, 2971 San Antonio avenue, tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock. Her subject will be "Matters Most Vital to Women."

American text books and school supplies are to be used in Peru.

FOREST FIRES IN NORTH ARE NOW UNDER CONTROL

Flames Hold Sway Over a Wide Area, But Serious Danger Believed Past.

SEATTLE, June 2.—Although Seattle was still ringed with flames today, the forest fire situation in Western Washington was more encouraging than it has been at any time before this week. Thousands of acres in Thurston, King, Snohomish and Pierce counties were still ablaze but the fires were reported under control at all points and unless exceptionally high winds spring up, it is believed that the danger is practically over. The pull of smoke that has hung over the city all week was considerably lessened and the city's supply of drinking water that had a decidedly "smoky" taste yesterday, is nearly back to normal.

PORTLAND, Ore., June 2.—Cloudy weather and abatement of winds in this section of the Northwest temporarily has removed the danger of further loss by forest fires, it was announced at the local office of the federal district forest ranger this morning.

Complete loss from the last three days of fire may not be known for a week, it is estimated. Losses for the most part have been suffered by individuals. Logging companies have shared a portion of the burden in losses of equipment and valuable timber. Uncle Sam's reserves escaped with slight damage.

Total of 1300 steel hulls were launched for the Emergency Fleet Corporation during the building period.

Porcelain Jacket Crowns Crowns — Bridgework

Gold — Inlays — Porcelain

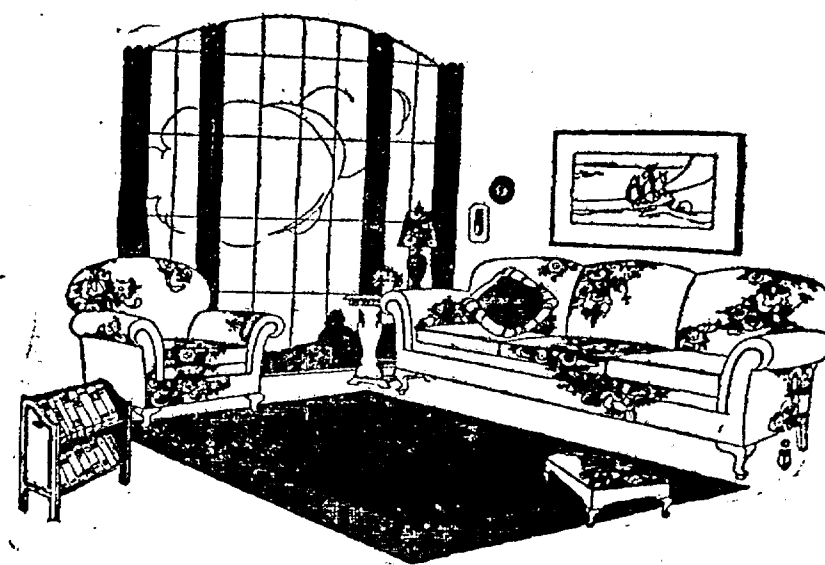

In the construction of CROWNS, BRIDGES or INLAYS it is most important to have a correct articulation, so that the food may be properly masticated, also having a perfect union at the gum margin so that it will cause no gum irritation. Our work is constructed in this manner, and for further proof of our work being perfect, we X-Ray work before it is cemented in position, and for this X-Ray service there is no extra charge.

Our prices are one-half what other RELIABLE dentists charge who can approach the high standard of Dr. R. C. Anderson's System of Dependable Dentistry.

Let Breuner Artists plan your New Drapes

Correct curtaining means so much

It's through your windows that you look out upon the world—they are the frame through which life unfolds. It's through your windows that the world catches its fleeting glimpses of your home. They're the part of your home that peeps out and says "hello"—says it coldly, austere—says it cheerily.

If you want to make certain how important the drapes are, notice the effect of taking them down altogether. Notice how much less interesting is the vista. Then go outside, and notice how uninviting your home looks. Correct draperies add 100% to both the interior and exterior.

Plan the Interior Before You Build

If you are building a new home, you will want the walls, the furniture and the drapes planned as one harmonious whole. To do that a complete scheme should be created, a scheme that will not only express you, and your personality, but which will be in conformity with the decorator's art. If your home is already built, skilled decorators can do much to create a harmony of mass and tone. The result will be pleasurable, indeed.

No Cost to You

Breuner's offers the services of the Breuner artists who well understand the problems of home interiors. Your draperies need not be expensive to warrant this service. It is free to you. Make use of it.

A Wonderful Stock from which to choose

Nowhere will you find a more compelling array of draperies, curtains and curtain materials than in Breuner's drapery department. Nor could you find draperies selected with better taste. Breuner's drapery materials are of well established quality, too. Sunshine and cleaning will not affect good drapes—there is economy in quality, especially when quality costs no more; and it doesn't at Breuner's.

WATER POWER HISTORY IS TOLD

The history of hydro-electric power development in this state was briefly traced by Paul Downing of the Pacific Gas and Electric Company at the Rotary Club luncheon in the Hotel Oakland yesterday.

Downing, who was a member of the pioneer class of Stanford University and was a celebrated football star in his day, told of the original power plants in this state and the advancement since 1895 to a point when California possesses the largest, longest and most comprehensive transmission system in the world.

"The success of this state in hydro-electric power is due to the water conditions," said Downing. "When twenty to a hundred feet is considered high headwater in the east we have headwaters as high as 2300 feet. This added to the snow forming natural reservoirs makes for increased power."

At the Downing speech three-minute talks were given by W. A. Osborne, of Melbourne, Australia, delegate to the international convention in Los Angeles next week; William Mayhew, head of the convention committee who announced the Hotel Maryland in Pasadena as Oakland's headquarters; and Russell Johnson, who invited the club to attend the shops of the Technical high school next Thursday.

The members of the Rotary Club were urged to attend the international convention 100 per cent strong by Mayhew and President Thomas C. Eaglesome, and assist in the welcoming of the international delegates to the southern city. The convention starts next week.

Failure to Provide Cases on Increase
ALAMEDA, June 2.—The number of "failure to provide" cases coming before the local courts has incited authorities to make an investigation as to the causes. Up to date this year nine cases have come before Police Judge L. R. Weinmann, which is as many as the court handled during all of 1921. Lieutenant of Police George Daly says no definite conclusion as to the cause has been reached, but the unsettled labor conditions are thought largely responsible.

Geraldine's SHOULDER

Listen, World!

I AM an American. A blazing one. There is no conceivable sacrifice I would not make for my country with loving loyalty I try to be a good patriot. But I do believe that much of our patriotism needs to be hunched out on the back line and given a good beating to rid it of moths and dust.

The daily cartoons are an evidence of this. Never has the Outraged Flag been such a popular subject. Let someone announce certain legislation, question the value of a national viewpoint, or criticize the perfection of an American institution, and straightway there appears a picture of an Insulted Flag with a Loyal Citizen standing in the foreground and demanding:

"Shall we allow the flag, which our fathers fought and died to be so flouted?"

Now, I'm as strong for that flag as any of those fighters and blazers, but I have a different complex. Our flag is honorable—but only if the ideas and institutions for which it stands are honorable. Our fathers did fight and died for the flag, and thereby won merit for it in their day. But that doesn't help us any. WE CAN'T CASH IN ON THE JOINT THAT THEY MADE. All honor to them if they fought and died under its folds yesterday, but the more dishonor to us if we cheat and bully and boast and slouch under its folds today.

That flag stands for what we are now, not for what Americans were one hundred years ago. The same turmoil and activity,

Should a Woman TELL?

Hawthorne Emery decides to marry Dane Merrill without telling him that she has once been in love with a man who was unworthy of her. She discovers that Dane is very narrow in his ideas about women, and that he is looking to her to exert an influence over his little butterfly sister, Julie, who has fallen in love with a man much older than herself, and later Hawthorne discovers that Julie's lover and Cranford Blake, the man from the past, are one and the same. Dane accuses Hawthorne of wanting her independent ideas before Julie, and forbids her to go anywhere without him in the future. Hawthorne's unwillingness to accept this ultimatum causes a quarrel between them and the past when she discovered Cranford Blake to be a professional gambler, looms up and threatens all her happiness.

CHAPTER XXXV.

Suspicion

WHEN he came home that evening Dane was all consideration for me. He asked how I was, he petted me, and it wasn't until later in the evening that he spoke to me again about Julie.

"I want you to use your influence over Julie with this man, Cranford Blake," he said. "He brought out the words suddenly, but I had had time during dinner to collect myself and my nerves were steadier.

"I thought you didn't have any opinion of my influence over Julie," I ventured, smiling a little.

"His face was softened.

"Dear, I was irritated last night, I'm sorry I made you unhappy. I was silent at this, for I knew that it did not mean anything to me. Dane had conceded anything to me. He was still proceeding on the idea that I had surrendered my will to his.

"How did you meet him?" he asked suddenly, reverting to his former remark.

"In the most casual way," I said quickly. "And I lost sight of him in a very short time."

"You saw him more than once then?"

"Yes, he knew some people that I went about with when I first came to New York, and I saw him occasionally."

He was silent a moment and my heart beat loud that I was sure he must hear it knocking against my side. How I loathed myself for lying like this how low and small and contemptible I felt. But womanhood was venturing so far, I was tempted to go on. I was entangling myself in a tissue of falsehood. I was adding insult to injury, and at any moment I might be discovered. Why, why? Mainly because there was always the one chance of not being discovered and I was grasping desperately at that small forlorn chance.

"When Dane spoke again it was with a gravity that was almost smug. At that moment he was not my lover, he was the typical respectable husband, with a solid standing in the business world, and the first time he was realizing that perhaps the wife of his heart had not always been what he had made her. That she had led another life before he had come into it. He had not thought to ask me much about my past, and with unbecoming intuition I felt now that he was sorry for it.

"Those people you know," he said finally, and very deliberately. "What kind are they?"

I felt a mad, hysterical desire to laugh, and I crushed it back. If only I could be calm and laugh at his insistence, make light of it, I at my nerves stretched tight, as if the tension that bound them might snap at any minute.

I was trembling and it was an effort to keep from showing it.

"Why do you ask me such questions? Why do you make me think that you suspect me of some wrong?" I burst out. I had intended to be calm and to speak lightly, but unconsciously my voice rose. I sounded even to my own ears, strained and artificial.

Dane stared at me and I read in his eyes the fact that he was displeased. Something else lurked behind it, too. Was it suspicion? If so, it was my own fault I had brought the acting about by my own attitude. I showed only too plainly that I was afraid of being questioned, that I resented it. What would Dane think? What was he thinking now? And if he looked at me so hostile now, when he knew so little, how would he look if he knew the truth?

(Tomorrow—Another Way Out)

For I, with all my modern ways, would far rather have someone praise the cooking ability I'm so proud of, than to be a second Divine Sarah.

"Love to Jerry, her pals and hoping that a few of the kickers will see through the."

"EYES OF YOUTH."

That's a dandy letter, little girl, I like it—all but that one sentence—"I don't think that the average woman appreciates men."

That's just the viewpoint we've got to get away from. We want friendly understanding, and 50-50 sharing. When it comes to that, Mary won't have to "appreciate" John because he slaves all day and earns enough cash to buy her a new squirrel cage.

The MASKED MAIL MAN

Post-Scripts

(An Oakland Mailman sees life and writes about it in his own way).

The Egg Candler.

I stood one day—
Within a small and darkened room—
And watched a man—
Pass snow white eggs—
Before a light—
And some were large and shovelled—
No blemishes.

These he said are "extras."
Then some were smaller than the first—
And these were known as "pullets."
Then there were some smaller still—
And these were graded "pee-wees."
And some were cracked—
He called these "checks"—
Then some had blood spots—
That showed black before the light—
And all those with untidy shells—
That had been fouled within the nest—
Were cast aside as "bakers."

And I went out and went my way—
At home that night I spent a book—
Dust-covered and neglected.

A present from my mother dear—
Now passed away.

I took it down and scanned—
It's old and yellow pages.

And there I read—
I, too, would pass before a light—
Held by a great Candler—
I and all other men.

And few there will be—
Oh, very few.

Who will be graded—"Extra"—
And there be some who prate and pray—
And wear a solemn mask—
Who think they have the key that fits—
The Golden Gate—
In their best Sunday clothes—
And these will possibly make the grade—
Of Pullets.

And some there are who wear the mask—
Of smug hypocrisy—
And rob the poor and through a prayer—
For those in direst need.

All these will candle out—
As Pee-wees.

Of course there will be some—
That's cracked—
And some with black spots—
But these are only minor faults—
In God's eyes—
For it was no fault of theirs—
That they were smirched—
But in my heart I've made a vow—
That I shall live—
So on that day—
No light will brand me—
Pee-wee.

Winifred Black FOLKS AND THINGS

Writes about

"Strange-looking woman," said my traveling companion to me. "Russian, don't you think?"

"Slavic, in some way," said I. "What a queer square face she has—lovely skin, too, and if her hair were dressed it would be beautiful."

"She must be the nurse," said my traveling companion. "I saw her in the steps of the train."

Then the conductor called "All aboard," and we went back to our own car and our own affairs.

Several times in the long journey we saw the Slavic young woman and the baby, and the dark, agreeable-looking man. The nurse wore a little gingham frock, old-fashioned and ill-fitting, and a loose cap. The baby seemed very fond of her and it was quite evident that she was the baby's willing and devoted slave.

BUT SOMEHOW—

On the morning that the train was to pull into Chicago, the three of them—father, first, carrying the baby, and then—

"Why," said my traveling companion, "Why, she's the baby's mother."

"Why, she's a beauty. Look at that lovely blonde hair, and that skin and those melting eyes. How could we ever have thought anything else?"

And the baby's nurse wore a soft, pretty dress of silk, and her fair hair was prettily combed and she really was a beauty baby."

"She's a slave to the baby," said my traveling companion. "She doesn't care how she looks or what she wears, so long as the baby's happy. And the husband doesn't care either—yet. I'd hate to take such chances with such a good-looking husband."

And yet, it was rather a sensible idea after all, when you think of it. Nobody can keep any dress decent, and carry a baby across the continent, and who wants to bother with waves and curls to a baby's chubby hands are liable to pull the whole mass down at a minute's notice? But somehow—

HOW WISE WE ARE.

I wonder if the little mother is going to go on that way through life, subordinating herself, effacing herself completely, for the sake of a rough little rascal who takes everything as his just due, and will never even dream that his mother is making any sort of sacrifice for him at all.

I wonder if it pays—always—that sort of sacrifice. Some day that baby will grow up, and go away to college and just as like as not he'll telegraph his mother:

"Have a great opportunity in South America—sailing tonight. Love and good-bye to mother. And she will find herself completely forgotten until Son comes home, ten or twelve years afterward, with a brood of dark children and a little South American wife, in diamonds and pounds of face powder.

Does it ever pay to give a whole lifetime entirely and absolutely to another human being?

Is it good for the 'other human being'?

I saw an article in the paper the other day about a mother who begged a judge to let her take her sick child home with her. The judge said to her, 'Judge, I've spoiled him since he was a baby. I'll be responsible for him. Please give him another chance.'

I wonder how long it took that poor little mother to realize what she had done to her child, 'spoiled' her only boy.

How wise we are when we sit in judgment on other people's troubles.

Child's History of the HUMAN RACE

by Ramon Coffman

Kings, Taxes and Policemen

CHAPTER 65

THE grain and other products grown in the rich soil of the Nile valley were probably shared equally in the earliest farming times in Egypt. Each tribe lived in a town and owned the land in the region around. All members of the tribe would help till the ground. When harvest came they would take in the crops, which would be divided equally among the different families in the tribe. The change of families began to say that it owned this little plot of ground, and another said it owned another little plot. Each family worked on its own plot, and got only the grain which that plot grew.

As time went on, certain families got more land than their neighbors. Some came to have no land at all, while others had a great deal.

The families with much land were "rich." The others were "poor." Then at the head of the rich families said to the poor families:

"We own all this land, but you can work on it. All you have to do is give us part of the crops you raise."

The large land owners came to be called nobles. They ruled over the towns in the valley of the Nile. The people without land were tenants. The nobles quarreled with one another. They gave the tenants bows and arrows, and there were fights between the people of different places. The noble whose tenants fought the best beat his neighbor.

Then he ruled over two towns instead of one.

There was a certain noble who had many tenants. They were well trained for fighting, and

We're a fine inconsistent bunch, we humans, with our brains tossing reason back and forth from the emotional to the practical side. We criticize the inefficient man—until he loses his job because of it; then we get all excited about a man who fired him when he has children and debts on his hands.

Mrs. Jones says, with a most virtuous air, "I could put money away for my husband," and then she can't make two ends meet on $200 a month. They have the same number in the family, pay about the same rent, yet one saves, the other goes into debt.

TRAINING IS the answer.

One has learned how to buy, how to sew, how to plan. The other just "grooved up" and DOESN'T KNOW HOW.

Our reason and our emotions get all tangled in the process of judging Mrs. Jones and Mrs. White. Mrs. J. can make an appetizing stew out of sweet potatoes, a cold root of a reddish yellow color, commonly known as a carrot, and a cheap cut of meat. She knows her business, but Mrs. W. doesn't even know how to make a stew. Little Mrs. Poor Lady gets a $10 POTATO ORDER. SHE BUYS POTATO CHIPS AND CHOCOLATE.

The result is that we live in virtuous as a little beast. WE KNOW HOW TO BUY NOURISHING FOODS WITH THE $10.

And we'll probably go right on judging instead of teaching.

"Dear Jerry, and your answers are very interesting and I enjoy reading them. Of course I can't agree with all, yet I can't help but smile at most of them. Some are sure amusing. The one about the man who wrote my name, I don't, too, wrote my name. Many say, don't, he will never know. How can they say it and make other people believe it is so. Any sane-minded person knows that he will find out without her telling. It is better to tell before than have unhappiness after. Were my little girls in the same boat as I, I should tell them, I tell. Just big enough to want to know everything."

"Another letter interested me very much, but I can't remember two babies, who had a hard time trying to get along on $150 a month. I have two girls, too, both going to school. My only son is 12 and a month and a half, and I manage to give $25 each month. We dress neat, but not expensive. I make all my clothes, also the children's, and Hubby's shirts. We do both play tennis and spend our Sundays at the park playing, while the children play, too. Once in awhile we attend a movie show, but not often as the picture shows are not so good for growing children to see. I think that parents who send their children to the movies to get them out of their way, or off the street, are doing the worst thing. I don't do it for one, do not approve of the child attending pictures which are unfit even for grownups to see. If I had my say, I should have tried to write pictures, but they come back, because they are too early. The producers don't want to publish anything unless it has a great deal of stuff in it that will draw one any stuff in that will draw one any shouldn't know. I entered some of my stories in THE TRIBUNE contest, but I'll bet you'll be accepted. If they are, I hope every mother lets her children go to see them. It's great to live on hopes. Hubby and I have been hoping for a little cottage all our lives. I have a dream will come nearer, if not, I'll try again. This isn't much of a letter, maybe you won't have room in your column for the gang series, with close with best wishes to all.

G. K. H."

Heart throbs can be cold and Jane's new beau can be cold without even getting a word of sympathy from me when there's a chance to help him. Kiddies, there's a regular hobby of mine and "a way to help 'em" is more welcome than $5.

"Dear Geraldine: The question has been asked—are we getting too much education? Education is a good thing, but I agree with you. A child should not go to school until it is ten years of age. Children need sunshine, fresh air and exercise—for physical development is just as important as mental development. If mothers would take enough interest in their little ones to teach them at home for a few years, how much better it would be for the children. Any mother can teach her child as much as she wants in a day or two. I could learn in four or five hours a day in school. Children need individual attention and it is impossible for a teacher having from 30 to 50 pupils to give each the attention they need. Many mothers think they do not know enough to teach their children at home. Books on teaching children at home and also text books for the child can be obtained from the free public libraries.

"Now to change the subject, I wonder if mothers know that eating too much meat causes children to be nervous and quarrelsome. Also meat eating causes other 'bad' habits. Meat causes uric acid in the body. If your child is apparently careless at night, feed it milk and eggs, fruit and vegetables instead of meat and see if that will not cure him.

"I would like to see your page, Geraldine, devoted to the interests of children. Why not discuss their problems for a while? We are all lots of love to you.

"FROM A CHILD LOVER."

It would be interesting to know the number of mothers who are debtors—and often succeed—in getting their children into school at the age of five. Why? Just to be free of them for four or five hours a day, to pass the responsibility on to another? They do this even though the confinement of babies—and they are babies at five years—is bad for them.

How are we going to impress mothers with the fact that their children are at least entitled to their babyhood?

"Appreciate"—To be fully aware of the importance of; to increase in value.—Webster.

I hate the words "appreciate" and "deserve." They're too dignified, patronizing. It's almost as bad as saying "good heart," which means exactly, "She's an awful pill—but she means well." If any one ever says that I have a "good heart," I'm going to do something that will send her straight to jail, and the one who says it better not visit me, either.

Outside of the above crabby remarks, I like the following letter. It almost had too much good sense to have been written by an eighteen year old girl—using the standards of the Modern Young Thing's most vicious critics.

"Jerry Dear: Things look different in print than in writing, don't they? You see, I've just written my letter published in your column, and the one signed 'An uninitiated steno.' And I just want to say another word about all this flapper and 'heaven' stuff.

Jerry, I'm eighteen years old—a 'good-looking' beauty, not even a 'boy-lover.' Heavily would my face step a clock. It's just an ordinary face that will stand a lot of hard wear and tear. I put powder on, but don't make a mask of it. I don't roll my socks because I don't like it; wear short skirts because they look nice; wear my hair just softly around my face, because I take great pride in it, and like to keep it nice, and don't run around to dances, because I'd rather have a good book or friend perched in front of my fireplace with me.

I have girl friends who do all of these supposedly terrible things and more sweet lovable girls never lived. The same with men, Jerry. I'm a girl who has, perhaps, met more men in the last two years than most girls meet in a lifetime. There may be some who dress in what is called a 'foppish manner,' but there's always something in them if they just open our eyes a bit.

I don't think, Jerry, that the average woman appreciates men. If she'll forget her dizzy shopping, and hair dressing and 'gold digging' she'll look for a moment into the business world and see them submerged in work. She might not call them 'pokes' when they come home at night. As for the husband who reads the paper nights. The wife is a lucky woman. When my 'prince charming' comes along, before I marry him, he'll see me in my home, when I'm tired and don't feel like 'much.'

And real home life is not built on countless 'I love you's.'

For those who uphold our modern young people, just look a wee bit deeper, see into their hearts and forget their whims and fan-

In this arrangement of 16 checkers, it will be seen that no more than two appear on any perpendicular, horizontal or regular diagonal row.

In various oblique directions, however, as shown, it is possible to find three and four checkers in straight line, and our puzzle consists in discovering another arrangement of the sixteen checkers in which there shall be no straight line of three, from any possible angle.

Lucy's Beauty

DO LARGE PORES MAR YOUR BEAUTY AND DO YOU LONG TO BANISH THEM?

Every woman recognizes the beauty appeal of a lovely soft skin, and every woman longs to possess a complexion that is beautiful texture. She may not have features of perfect perfection, but she can have a complexion that is beautiful texture. She may not have features of perfect perfection, but she can have a complexion that is beautiful texture.

Do not be misled by the fact that a beautiful complexion dominates numerous features of lesser perfection. The texture of the skin is the first essential, and this, primarily, is influenced by diet, the care lavished upon the skin and general fitness.

Judging from queries which come from anxious women who seek to have their attractiveness through the pursuit of beauty, an oily skin is one of the besetting evils to be overcome. The women who are distressed by this unfortunate condition usually complain that they cannot use face powder because their enlarged pores become clogged and look like white spots scattered over their faces. In the while, the washing of their faces are literally covered with grease, they say, and no amount of ordinary washing seems to lessen the recurrence of this condition.

Such excessive richness of skin is unfortunate, indeed, and any amount of effort spent in correcting the condition is well worth while. Results may not come in if or even a week, but continued effort will surely have its reward.

If your skin is prone to excessive greasiness, watch your diet carefully, and abstain from heavy soups containing greasy substances and from rich foods. All fatty foods, sweets, butter and salad dressings come under this head, and while it may seem difficult at first to limit your diet and omit these foods, you can in reality find many others to take their place. Eat plenty of green vegetables and fresh fruits, some bread without butter, and take your salad without oil dressing.

Eliminate cold creams, and apply lemon juice to your face night and morning after washing. Have the following lotion prepared by some reliable druggist.

Lotion for Oily Skin.
Salicylic acid..... 15 grains.
Olive oil..... 1½ ounces.
Adipic lauric hydrosol 6 grains.
Rosewater..... 6 drams.

Put this on your face at night after the lemon juice has soaked in and dried thoroughly. It should aid in overcoming this oily condition of your skin, but remember that you should never rely on a lotion or formula of any kind to do its work effectively unless you supplement it with good common sense measures.

It stands to reason that if excessive grease is taken into the system through food consumed, it will find an outlet through some channel which it will find for itself. The skin is a very logical channel. Think of this when you are tempted to indulge in rich, fatty food, and it will not seem nearly so attractive.

Where the Baby's Cradle Is Hung Up High in a Tree Top—2 col 10 pt

The dangers that attend life in the open and in the poorly constructed villages which house the savages and the semi-civilized seem not to be a part of the thoughts of those who half-mockingly wish they could "go back to nature." That these dangers are very real is evidenced by the fact that many a native of India and Africa, and even in Central America there are added the hazards of great snakes. In nearly all these lands the danger from crocodiles and other water monsters is very real. In the South Seas—those fabled isles of peace and plenty, love and ease—the menace of the shark and the danger of the octopus are to be reckoned with each day.

Little wonder, then, that in some especially hazardous sections where the aborigines still live, that old men and old women are rare. The danger is so great that these people who have such crude weapons with which to defend themselves, who live in such frail houses and fish from baits and spears, and even eat eggs, should be able to live even to manhood.

The struggle of the little people is especially hard. Unlike the young of the animal kingdom, when they are born, they are helpless. They cannot walk a few days after they are born. For a comparative long period—though in comparison with the children we know they are most precocious—these savage children must be watched every moment or otherwise safeguarded lest they meet death from a wild animal.

Our illustration shows how the mothers and fathers of one savage tribe in Borneo protect their babies. The young of the animal kingdom, when they are born, they are helpless. They cannot walk a few days after they are born. For a comparative long period—though in comparison with the children we know they are most precocious—these savage children must be watched every moment or otherwise safeguarded lest they meet death from a wild animal.

REISCHMAN'S MISSING WILL IN OWN GRAVE?

Question Is Raised by Judge
During Controversy
Over Estate.

Did the missing will of the late Matthew Reischman, of 2500 Linden street, go to his grave with him? This question was raised by Superior Judge E. C. Robinson today during a controversy between heirs of Reischman as to whether or not he had died intestate.

Testimony showed that a search on the part of relatives had failed to disclose a will after the death of Reischman. Then one of the witnesses said that Reischman had been buried in his business suit, which had been hurriedly gathered up from where he had placed it when he fell ill.

"Did you search the pockets?" asked Judge Robinson. Receiving a negative reply from the witness, Judge Robinson suggested that there might have been a will after all, and that it might have been buried with Reischman. Upon the question as to whether Reischman died with or without a will depends that as to whether his estate will go to his five-year-old grandson, or to his sister, Mrs. Margaret E. Watson.

In a document, presumably intended by Reischman as a will, in which he bequeathed his estate to Mrs. Watson, he left out mention of the grandson. Under the will this invalidates the will, leaving the grandson as the heir-at-law.

UNITY IN CHINA BROUGHT NEARBY PEKING CHANGE

President Ousted, Wu Turns
His Attention to Canton; Urge Sun's Retirement.

PEKING, June 2 (By the Associated Press).—President Hsu Shih Chang, who yesterday resigned under pressure, will retire to Tientsin, leaving the presidential palace to his successor, who, in all probability, will be Li Yuan-Hung, former president.

President Hsu's resignation was announced in a mandate published today. The president's action followed a demand that he vacate voiced by members of the republican parliament, supported by the victorious General Wu Pei-Fu.

The liberal press of China today acclaimed the retirement of Hsu Shih-Chang as opening a new era in the country. It was pointed out that as long as he remained in office the north and south were antagonized, but that since the parliamentary government seemed restored there was no longer reason for Sun Yat Sen to maintain a separate government at Canton.

WU'S MASTER STROKE.
Wu Pei-Fu is regarded as having been a master stroke in removing the president through a peaceful strategy after his brief but decisive war with General Chang Tso-Lin. Without interfering personally he guided the parliamentarians at Tientsin, making President Hsu's position untenable. Wu is said to view his work as only begun, because Sun Yat Sen has not yet shown a disposition to yield. A number of other members of parliament still at Canton are reported to favor Sun. General Wu, having disposed temporarily of the Peking situation, is expected to devote his attention to Canton.

PEACE NEAR.
Restoration of peace in China seems nearer than at any time since the Peking government first encountered armed opposition. The whole matter, as viewed in the light of recent developments, revolves around Dr. Sun Yat Sen, president of the southern, or Canton, government, whose control from the Peking government has been based on the contention that Hsu Shih Chang's occupancy of the presidential chair was illegal, and that he and his associates were unduly subject to Japanese influence.

There are indications that the same sort of pressure that brought about Hsu's withdrawal as a central figure in Chinese politics are operating to remove Dr. Sun as southern president.

General Chen Chiungming, the principal military power of South China, a few days ago demanded Dr. Sun's resignation and announced that he intended to support a movement to bring about a reassembly of the parliament and the restoration of Li Yuan-Hung, who was forced from the presidency by the militarists in 1916, to office. Last Wednesday word came from Peking that General Chen had aligned thirteen of the more powerful generals, or military dictators of provinces, with him.

This accession of strength to those opposing him is believed likely to prove a powerful factor in influencing Dr. Sun's decision. In addition, Sun has contended steadily that his ambition was not personal, but merely that China be restored to unity and peace. His letter of resignation virtually called on Sun to resign.

Another important step toward Chinese pacification appears to have been taken in the north, where General Wu Pei-Fu, whose prime object has been announced as the removal of all who oppose Chinese unity, has started a determined drive against General Chang Tso-Lin, whose control of Peking he recently broke. Wu's forces were reported this morning as in complete control of the Chinese Eastern railway. Wu is moving at Shanhaiwan, on the Gulf of Liaotung, in Manchuria.

CANTON TROOPS WIN.

SHANGHAI, June 2.—Ten thousand Kiang Si troops are in full flight today following their defeat after a seven-day battle with troops of Sun Yat Sen, in which thousands of casualties were reported.

Forty field pieces, 70 machine guns and 1500 rifles were captured by the victorious Canton troops, who occupied Nan Chang.

WOMAN LEARNS BEST PLACE TO SHOP

"What an attractive young girl she really is! beautiful, isn't she?" "Well, I shouldn't call her beautiful exactly, but she does have an interesting face and she is dressed with wonderful taste."

"Yes, indeed. I wonder who she is? I know her mother must be a woman of wisdom. So many of these modern youngsters dress in such atrocious clothes."

"Surely you don't mean to say you don't know who she is. Why, my dear, don't you recognize Lila? You've known her for years."

"Well, I declare! She surely has changed, and you know, she has been away to school so much lately that I haven't seen her. These kiddies of ours grow up so fast I can't keep track of them. Well, if she is my friend's girl no wonder she is dressed right. She knows the last word in fashion, but she has good taste and doesn't go to extremes."

"Yes, she knows what to buy and she buys wisely. She gets all of her own suits and dresses and Lila's at Cherry's, at 523 13th street. They are very good about allowing one to make practically any convenient arrangements for monthly payments."—Advertisement.

SLEEPING WIFE SLAIN BY S. F. FILM OPERATOR

Walter F. Latimer, III for Three Years, Shoots Self in Double Tragedy.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 2.—While suffering from a period of dementia, Walter De Latimer, 43 years old, shot and killed his wife, Mrs. De Latimer, 32 years old, and then shot and killed himself, leaving a note in which he stated that he was dying at the Central Emergency hospital.

The only explanation that can be given by the family is that De Latimer was seized with a spell of insanity and deliberately planned the tragedy.

The 10-year-old daughter, Dolores, went to school as usual this morning, ignorant of the fact that when she left the house her mother lay dead and her father dying in a room adjoining her own.

The tragedy occurred at 2523 Gough street, in the residence of Carlos Lundine. Mrs. De Latimer's mother, Mrs. Jane Nesbitt, and her sister, Miss Leone Nesbitt, live at the same house.

After Dolores had gone to school and the De Latimers failed to appear for breakfast, Miss Nesbitt became worried and went to the De Latimer apartment.

CANADA HAS GRIEVANCES.

Not long ago the Boston Transcript's Canadian correspondent referred to the statement of Sir Clifford Sifton, in which that distinguished Canadian citizen detailed many points of dissatisfaction on the part of the people of the Dominion with the country's present situation. Canada is incapable under existing relations with the British Empire government of amending its own constitution and Sir Clifford suggested that a constitutional conference would have to be held shortly to consider the following questions:

- (1) Shall Canada have complete autonomy in external affairs and plenary power to amend her own constitution?
- (2) Shall there be complete equality of status with the United Kingdom?
- (3) Shall Canada ask with General Smuts that steps be taken to give her independence "legal and international effect"?
- (4) Shall Canada assume power to deal with foreign nations as a sovereign State and settle even issues of peace and war for herself, or
- (5) Shall Canada accept Lloyd George's definition of dominion status in foreign affairs?

These five points are stated with great delicacy and with that restraint so properly found in the utterances of an experienced statesman who realizes the extreme depth to which principles strike and the danger of revealing them too suddenly and nakedly. But they are very serious questions and back of them is a category of complaints which could be made quite formidable by the ingenious political orator.

In this connection it is interesting to note that an Associated Press despatch from London of May 10 carried extracts from a statement by Lord Northcliffe, the noted English publisher, upon his return from a prolonged world tour. Lord Northcliffe then took occasion to warn England against alienating the affections of Canada. He said the most important question he had encountered in Canada was "the great slur cast upon the people of Canada by the English embargo placed on their cattle."

Here is an instance of the eruption of a principle of inequality which England has written into her policy toward the Dominion. There are many other examples. All of them profoundly impress thoughtful people in Canada and England who bear in mind the lessons of history. They recall that until the actual outbreak of armed hostilities in the war of American independence had magnified and lighted them with the spirit of anger and bitterness the differences between England and the American colonies did not seem any more important than the smoldering differences between England and Canada now seem.

Canadian sentiment regarding England is nearing unfriendly currents and it is being propelled by acts of political and commercial selfishness. Perhaps these things are more noticeable because of the peculiarly uneasy state of the public mind everywhere, and perhaps British Empire statesmanship will show the capacity to rise above them and look beyond them. As to this, time will tell.

OAKLAND'S MUSEUM.

For the nominal sum of one dollar Mr. H. A. Snow has turned over to the city of Oakland his exhibit of Southern African wild fauna, esteemed by experts as the finest in America. The formal transfer was executed Thursday and the city council at once expressed its purpose to build a modern fireproof museum in which to house the exhibit.

The council also passed a formal resolution expressive of its appreciation of the philanthropy of Mr. Snow. Only because Oakland is his home have the people of this city been privileged to acquire this collection. He has displayed an admirable public spirit and the people will profit greatly.

A site for the museum already has been purchased. It is an adequately large plot of land running from Nineteenth street through to the new boulevard being built on the west shore of Lake Merritt. The Snow exhibit is temporarily housed in the residence that stands on this land. It is to be hoped that no time will be lost unnecessarily in carrying out the plan to erect a fireproof structure demanded for the proper care of this collection.

THE COURT ON CASTE.

In her petition in a Chicago court Mrs. Harold F. McCormick made three contentions which are unique in legal records. Her daughter, Miss Mathilde McCormick, is reported engaged to Max Oser, a Swiss riding instructor; the girl's father is reported to approve the prospective marriage and seeks to have himself appointed guardian of his daughter in order that his consent may formally be given upon demand by Swiss law. Mrs. McCormick, his divorced wife, who is opposed to the marriage plans of Miss Mathilde, sets up her objections in her petition against the guardianship.

These objections are, first, that Max Oser is without visible means of a permanent income, while his fiancée is heir to many millions; second, that he is twenty-seven years older than the seventeen-year-old Mathilde, and, third, that by the proposed marriage, Mathilde McCormick would become a Swiss citizen.

One should venture into family affairs of this nature with great reluctance. They are really not intended to interest the outside public. And the thoughtful citizen can readily comprehend that behind the stated objections of Mrs. McCormick there is a long record of unhappy experiences of American girls of great wealth who married impoverished foreigners many years their senior. Most persons will agree that Mrs. McCormick reflects a lot of maternal common sense, and will sympathize with her objections to the prospective alliance of her daughter.

But it is not this phase of the case with which we are concerned. The unique, and more or less important aspect is that these objections have been introduced in a judicial proceeding and for the time are being seriously entertained by a court. What basis have they in law, however sound they may be in a catechism for young girls contemplating matrimony?

It is not of record that a marriage was judicially objectionable because one party to the contract was very wealthy and the other compelled to work for a living; neither has the fact that a man was many years older than the woman sufficed to provoke court interference in a marriage; nor has the fact that an American girl who marries a foreigner must take the citizenship of her husband and forfeit her American citizenship served as a legal bar to marriage.

Unless the parents of Miss McCormick compromise their differences the Chicago court probably will hand down a wordy and learned disquisition on these questions. It will be interesting reading. It will be seen to what extent the court tolerates theories of social differences and the impediment of wealth—the comparative merits of Swiss citizenship and American citizenship, and the acceptability of a man of forty-three as a husband for a girl of seventeen.

Attorney General Fowler of Nevada has received the rebuke anticipated for him in the decision of the supreme court of that state in the Mary Pickford divorce case. The court unanimously held that the attorney-general was without authority to raise an objection to the validity of the decree handed down by the trial judge of Minden. The divorce decree was valid, which automatically gave validity to the second marriage of the popular screen star. In the meantime Attorney-General Fowler has got a wide publicity, which has appeared all along to be the thing he chiefly desired.

The author of "Goodbye Dolly Gray" and other popular songs has died in an insane asylum, a pauper. The business of entertaining the people seems to be rewarded with less gratitude than any other and those who produce the finest part, who contribute the touch of poetic genius, are always the most neglected.

Thomas A. Edison is a famous inventor but his persistence in urging his scheme for fiat money, his theory that gold is not essential security for sound money, is getting him a bad reputation as a financier.

ON CHATTING WITH VENUS.

The earth is always a little lonesome. At least its dwellers are invariably interested when science suggests that one of our neighboring planets is inhabited. We yearn to extend the hand of fellowship across the vast wild spaces of the skies. It makes people happy to learn that the assistant secretary of the Smithsonian Institution, G. G. Abbot, considers it possible that the planet Venus contains intelligent life.

This is not revolutionary. When the great Swedish astronomer Svante Arrhenius published his "Destinies of the Stars" in 1918 he declared not only that Mars was as dead as the moon but that Venus was the white hope of the solar system. She has a climate about as warm and moist as the heart of a Congo forest and therefore is suited to the production of vegetable and animal life.

Confronted with the usual question whether it would be possible to communicate with Venus, Mr. Abbot replied that if it were the cost would be immense. It is, indeed, quite a drain on the imagination to contemplate the possibility of chatting with a planet. We must assume that Venus has had her Franklins, Edisons and Marconis, and that she has proceeded along the same lines as this world in the development of the radio.

More than that, those who believe that there will be interplanetary communications must be confident that the other satellites of the sun have inhabitants imbued with a desire to chat with the land of Charley Chaplin. How do they know that curiosity is not a blessing bestowed exclusively upon the children of Adam?—New York Herald.

The idea of wearing live birds in cages built in women's hats will appeal to many. If one can't have the feathers without the bird and the proof that the original sprout of them is alive and healthy, by all means wear the bird in the hat. There are many obvious remarks concerning hats in the hat. It is cuckoo, which we pass over. It is our hope the women of this country follow the London style that every chapeau has its own canary, and that the singing of the hat birds will be heard in the land. There is only one drawback, a fatal one, we fear: let a bird be indiscreet enough to sing "cheep, cheep," and the whole idea is wrecked.

An attorney in Kansas City was questioning a witness in a robbery case.

"Do you mean to tell me you made a mental picture of this man when he pointed a gun at you?" the witness was asked.

Followed more questions and efforts to cast ridicule upon the witness and then the attorney asked: "Did you ever face a pointed pistol before?"

"Yes."

"Where and under what circumstances?"

Here is the answer of the witness: "I served with the Canadians four years in Flanders and nearby regions. Aside from the many encounters in the line and in No Man's Land, recall once being surrounded by eight Germans. Each pointed a pistol at me. I can describe each of those eight men today."

Speaking of the American Academy of Parnassus, it came to which a man or woman may be admitted by paying a New Yorker a sum of money, there is offered here the poem of the first poet to win place. She is to have her name published in every number of the "Poet and Philosopher," a tablet in the hall, when it is built, and fellow members are to agree to write a rhymed obituary when she dies.

The poem, called "The Mississippi," follows:
 She rushes through valley and plain,
 Determined to go to the sea,
 She utters the sweetest refrain
 While washing each hillside and
 "Yes!
 She sometimes goes off on a spree,
 And piles up great damage with
 No shame on her face there will Be!
 'Tis old Mississippi, so fair.

She's friendly and fine, in the main;
 She waters the blossoming tree,
 Her capering life in the valley,
 She pays with her refuse, the fee;
 So, if we should offer a plea
 That she our poor feelings
 Would spare,
 She'd laugh at our weakness, O
 "Tis old Mississippi, so fair.

Envoiy.
 She'll never grow weary, nor woe;
 No doubt she will always be
 There.
 Her limbs number just four times
 three!
 'Tis old Mississippi, so fair.

Mamie Lahey Hogan is the author and, possibly, the first one who has called the Mississippi anything but "The Father of Waters." The line, "Her limbs number just four times three," it will be admitted, entitles the newest famous one to peculiar and special honors.

NOTES and COMMENT

New York Evening Post on the Presidency for next term: "On the theory that President Harding will prove to be a second William Howard Taft and that he cannot be re-elected, prominent Republican leaders of New York State are reported to be dangling the tempting bait of a Presidential nomination in 1924 before Governor Nathan L. Miller as an inducement for him to run again for Governor. Several conferences have been held at which the possibility of Governor Miller as a Presidential nominee, provided he is successful in this State next fall, was discussed and plans laid furthering the Miller-for-President movement."

The Indianapolis News tells of an interesting and exceptional instance: "One of the most successful tea and spice salesmen in the southwest is Albert Clifton. Though blind since he was 12, he travels over two-thirds of Arkansas and a large part of Oklahoma, visiting 200 towns and selling about $75,000 worth of goods a year. Clifton carries a memory map in his head of all these towns and finds his way about them without a guide. Wherever he visits a town for the first time, he has a person familiar with the streets describe the "lay of the land" to him. After that he goes it alone. Clifton writes his orders on a small typewriter he carries with him."

Chicago Tribune on undesirable aliens: "Two efforts to break down the 3 per cent immigration law are reported in the day's news. Representative Steenerson of Minnesota suggests an amendment which would exempt prospective farmers from the 3 per cent restriction. The American Jewish Congress, in session in Philadelphia, urges the admission of any person seeking haven from religious persecution."

The Palo Alto Times suggests a solution: "A certain society sister asks the question, 'How may we keep our husbands at home?' We are willing to guarantee that if the lady questioner will furnish something to make the cradle interesting and less lonesome at her house the problem of keeping the husband at home will be solved, as far as she is concerned."

The Medford Mail-Tribune expresses itself to the effect that the laws of Oregon should be more homogeneous: "Inasmuch as the State of Oregon has a law prohibiting cigarette smoking by masculine upstarts, it should be amended to keep rouge sticks away from feminine whiffles."

SPIRIT OF STATE PRESS

When the first engineer of the smart little C. P. Huntington again sat at the throttle and guided the locomotive on its trip about the city, there were Sacramentoans who sensed better than most people the pleasure that was his as he made the journey. To most persons came the natural thought of a mind turning backward through the years to the free gay days of youth and the mysteries of steam.

Sacramento is a railroad town and its railroad men were the only ones to appreciate the full force of the emotion which came over the old engineer as he found himself back in his seat.—Sacramento Union.

Stanford seems to be fortunate in its dean of women. Miss Yost doesn't get unduly excited, certainly not pessimistically distressed about the dress or the conduct of the modern girl. She doubtless finds many ways in which they might be improved, but having watched girls with a critical if sympathetic eye for a number of years, she reaches the conclusion that they are better rather than worse than they were.—Palo Alto Times.

The treasurer of Yuba county did a unique thing when he carried a horseback, in gold dust and baskets, the taxes he owed the State, and thereupon paid his debt into the treasury at Sacramento. That was the way the pioneer miners met their obligations, and this official's payment was in keeping with the memory of the pioneer days.—Bakersfield Californian.

Why shouldn't the other planets be inhabited? Do you suppose the Lord put 'em yonder in the sky, hundreds of millions distant, just so we could have stars twinkle? Chances are many of them are inhabited by people who know a whole lot more than we do—which is not saying much.—Richmond Record-Herald.

MORAL COURAGE.

There's a courage that is greater than the test of fire and sword, There's a greater proof of mettle than the battlefields afford, And I would that I might teach it to that boy of mine today, So that he may never weaken as he goes along his way. It's the courage of conviction that can stand the cruel gaff And dare to do the right thing when his thoughtless playmates laugh.

I want to have him sturdy, and I hope he'll never show The pale cheek of the coward when he has to take a blow; I hope he will not whimper and too bitterly complain When his wish is disappointed and a dream he fails to gain. But above this outward courage and beyond this sign of fear, I hope he'll stand undaunted when his thoughtless fellows sneer.

When his gang is all against him—that's the time I want him true, When his playmates urge upon him what he knows is wrong to do, When he's taunted with derision, then I want him at his best, For, spite of all that he must cope with, this is boyhood's hardest test.

And the greatest proof of courage is to stand and take the gaff And dare to do the right thing when his thoughtless playmates laugh.

IS RADIO CAUSING RAINS?

The prevalence of rains and storms over nearly the entire United States has naturally brought out a good deal of speculation concerning the causes of these climatic disturbances. That is always the case, but there is no closer nearer knowing the answer now than at any time in the past. Just now when there is so much talk and experimenting with radio electricity it is not surprising to hear that a man who calls himself a radio expert says the recent heavy rains resulting in floods, sloshy basements and discouraged farmers, were caused by agitated air. The agitation was caused by radio broadcasting. He advises radio enthusiasts to take a vacation and permit the atmosphere to return to normal.

An expert may argue that with so many messages propelled by powerful electric impulses it would be but natural for the air strata to buckle and twist, changing temperature and forming clouds from which moisture would fall. This would mean that an increase in broadcasting would cause more rain. Another might hold that radio messages, regardless of their wave lengths, would have no effect on the air and that any suggestion of a relationship between radio and rain is mere hush.

It may be that radio is to take the place of the tree toad. Riley said that he had studied it boy and man, and that a tree toad could bring rain if he "hollered" long enough. In broadcasting may lie relief from drought—if, like the tree toad—it persists long enough.—Capper's Weekly.

HOW YOUR HEALTH

How to Help a Shut-In Get Well and Strong Again.

By ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D., Commissioner of Health, New York City.

Sooner or later sickness comes to every household. You may be one of the fortunate ones. You and yours may have escaped the physical tax-collector. But he is on the way, and while it is unwise to dwell on thoughts which are painful, nevertheless it is wise to take stock now and then. How can you manage your home when illness comes?

In every home there is at least one pleasant room. Too many times it is carefully protected from common use. The shades are drawn and the furniture is covered to protect it from desecrating dust. Such a "parlor" as this is enough to drive the children into the street. No room in the house should be too good to use.

It may seem to you almost sacrilege to think of turning the parlor into a sickroom. But it may be just the place for the poor shut-in, the chronic invalid or the convalescent patient.

It is bad enough for any one of us to be shut in for a single one of the lovely days of springtime. How much worse is it for the unfortunate who are obliged to spend a whole season in bed!

You can lighten the burdens of the invalid by placing his bed or chair near the window. Here he has glimpses of the outside world. He can watch the swelling buds and the growth of the leaves. He can see the green grass and the flowers.

Without something of human interest life is dull and sad. We need to see our neighbors and the other members of the community. We should have things to think about instead of our own infirmities.

The sick-room should be made as attractive as possible. A few inexpensive things will add to its charm. Dainty curtains, pretty pictures, a plant, a basket of fruit—these things will hold the eye and tempt the palate.

The opening window and the sunshine give the invalid the fresh air so essential to his recovery.

If it were purely a matter of economy, the shut-in would be given these surroundings. His recovery will be hastened by such attention.

Keep the patient in a dark and gloomy room, with no sunshine and nothing to do but count the figures on the wallpaper, and his disease will drag along indefinitely. Keep a patient in such a place and he loses heart. When he falls into that frame of mind which believes recovery is impossible and that nobody cares, you have an obstinate and difficult case to cure. To be shut in for three months is to develop habits of mind and body which are hard to overcome.

Cheerfulness, human interest, sunshine and fresh air contribute wonderfully to recovery.

It is remarkable how bed-ridden or house-ridden one can become. If withdrawal from the world is complete, it is difficult to drag one's self back to the routine of the old life. Speedy recovery follows if the human touch is permitted to do its part.

Add these fine helps to the services of your family doctor.

4000 Shrine Musicians to Give Concert

SAN FRANCISCO, June 2.—The Shrine festival will be not only the greatest convention of its kind ever held, but also one of the largest music festivals on record. Each of the visiting temples brings its own band. Many, also, bring bugle, fife and drum corps. All these bands will participate in the parades and processions, and they will give a "massed bands concert" of 4000 instruments in Golden Gate Park stadium on Thursday morning, June 15.

chairman of the San Francisco women's auxiliary, which has headquarters in the Santa Fe building. One of the main tasks of the women's committee is to meet and greet the wives of the visiting nobles, and to pilot them on sight-seeing trips and shopping tours, and to arrange teas, dances and other forms of entertainment for them.

The San Francisco Board of Park Commissioners yesterday decided to throw open the Lincoln Park Golf Links to the visiting Shriners. Green fees will not be charged. The Southern Pacific railroad announced rates on excursion trips, which will be in force during Shrine week, from Palermo, Stockton, Modesto, Sunol, Niles, Decoto, Pleasanton, Altamont and Lathrop to Oakland and San Francisco. The Committee on Decorations yesterday inspected the fifteen Minarets rising fifty feet in the air, which have been constructed and decorated in the red, gold and green colors of Shrinism. These Minarets will be placed in the Civic center plaza. Chief of Police James T. Drew of Oakland announces that every policeman on the force will be on duty during Oakland Day, June 14, and that all precautions are being taken for the comfort and safety of the visitors.

CHURCH FOOD SALE.

BERKELEY, June 2.—Women of Wesley M. E. church will have charge of a delicatessen and bakery shop on Virginia street just above Shattuck avenue all day tomorrow. Home cooked dishes as well as pies and cakes of every description will be sold. The young people of Wesley M. E. church, Berkeley, will have a bazaar in the church building this evening. There will be numerous booths. In the evening the young people will present a play for the entertainment of their guests.

OAKLAND TO ILLUMINATE FOR NOBLES

Electrical Effects for Visiting Shriners Will Include Big Venetian Carnival on Lake Merritt Every Night

Electric effects never before attempted on the Pacific Coast will be introduced in the illuminating of Lake Merritt for the week of the Shriners' Imperial Council. Harry S. Anderson, chairman of the committee in charge of that feature, has reported to the general committee of Ahmeh temple. "The climax of our show must remain a secret for a few days more," Anderson said, "but we can promise that it will be the most spectacular attraction of Shrine week, and it has been predicted by some of those aware of what it is to be that the people of Oakland will ask to have it made a permanent adjunct of the lake."

WILL ILLUMINATE CITY. "In addition to this particular spectacle, arrangements have been made to place several thousand electric lights around the shores of the lake, to decorate and illuminate the wharves and boats, and to have a 'Night in Venice' every night while the Imperial Council is in session. The city authorities have agreed to decorate all the city launches, rowboats, whaleboats and canoes with Shrine colors, and to dress them with Chinese lanterns at night. Jay Shih, superintendent of the municipal recreation department, has been authorized by the Shriners to offer prizes for the most artistic decorations on the private boats on the lake, and it will all result in a gorgeous scene."

FOR OAKLAND DAY. Up to date 36 Shrine temples located in 28 outside States have sent word that their delegations to the Imperial Council will be in Oakland on Oakland Day, June 14. Their uniformed organizations will appear in the Shrine parade, which will be followed by luncheon and a program at the park, where the arrangements are in the hands of a committee consisting of W. F. D. Brown (chairman), Lawrence E. Lund and Howard J. Swift.

By a significant coincidence, Oakland Day falls on National Flag Day, and ceremonies in tribute to the American flag are being arranged in connection with the Shriners' celebration.

BERKELEY MAKES DISPLAY. Berkeley is the first Eastbay city to be in a full blaze of Shrine and national colors in preparation for the Imperial Council, that city having put up its display in advance for the benefit of the merchants' fair, now under way. Some of the business establishments in Oakland and Alameda are also beginning to show the colors.

The general committee of Shriners in charge of the Eastbay participation consists of Potentate Thomas W. Norris (chairman), Frank W. Bilge, George S. Meredith, Robert Gieg, Ben O. Johnson, J. Loran Pease, B. A. Forsterer, Lincoln S. Church, H. C. Capwell, George C. Pardee, Arthur Ramago, Harry S. Anderson, W. F. D. Brown, L. E. Lund, Otto H. Fischer, George H. Smith and Stanley Stokes.

TUG OWNERS SIGN MERGER TO END WAR

Commercial Battle on Bay Is Closed as Red and Black Stack Boats Go Under One Head in Consolidation

The commercial battle of the tugboat owners in the bay district came to a conclusion today with the consolidation of the companies.

The merger was effected through the purchase by the Shipowners and Merchants' Tugboat Company, known as the Red Stacks, of the San Francisco Tugboat Company, known as the Black Stacks.

For the last two years these organizations have been engaged in a business duel, and the merger today marks one of a series of similar consolidations accomplished recently. The Red Stacks first combined with the Spreckels Tugboat Company. Shortly afterward the Ralph Company and the Peterson Company combined forces with a fleet of eight steam tugs. The Ralph and Peterson organization, under the direction of Mayor James Rolph, also a stockholder in the rival organization, has now lost its individuality and will become part of the Red Stack fleet. Sailing masters on the local estuary did not greet the merger with acclamation today, on the ground that the lack of competition will not result in a lowering of prices.

Woman Bandit Being Hunted in San Jose

SAN JOSE, June 2.—Search is being made by the police for a mysterious woman bandit who held up and robbed Lawrence J. McNeil of 384 North First street last night, in the vicinity of St. James park, a few blocks from the center of the city.

According to McNeil's story to the police, a well-dressed, comely woman approached him as he was passing the park and asked him for a match. On his response that he did not have one she drew a revolver and ordered him to throw up his hands.

The woman robbed McNeil of $10.50 in coin and a gold watch. Zirconium, a metal with strange properties, is highly resistant to acids.

UNCLE WIGGILY AND THE CREEPER BIRD.

"Why are you so busy?"
asked Nurse Jane.

Nurse Jane was not at all sure of this, but she knew it would do no good to tell Uncle Wiggily so.

"Let him have his way," she thought. "He'll soon find out the pantry bugs are so many, and so little, that they pay no attention to what any one says."

Uncle Wiggly went to the pantry. At first he could see nothing, but by staring hard through his glasses he managed at last to see thousands and thousands of tiny bugs walking around on the shelves as though they had rented the place and had a right to be there.

"Hum! They are tiny bugs!" said the bunny, twinkling his pink nose on one side. "Now look here, you funny, pesky lit-

"Not that I wish to call you names, but you must leave Nurse Jane's pantry, you know! You really must! Yes, indeed! Come now, skedaddle! If you know

But the little bugs didn't seem to know, for they did not "skeddaddle" or in the least pay any attention to Uncle Wiggly. They kept on crawling around, and though Nurse Jane poured water on them, washing the insect away, they crawled around again.

"Oh, what shall I do?" wailed the muskrat lady housekeeper. "Come for a walk with me!" said Uncle Wiggily. "Have a jolly good adventure to take your mind off your troubles. And perhaps, in the woods we may think of a way to rid the pantry of the tiny bugs."

The minute Aunt Eppie took that Bay Window seat Mr. Melcher sneaked out and put in a prop so as to avoid a repetition of her accident over at Snyder's place three years ago.

A black and white cartoon illustration. In the center, a man with a mustache and a cap is crouched, using a hand saw to cut through a wooden support beam of a house. The house is elevated on stilts. A dog is barking and running towards the man. Two chickens are running away from the scene. A speech bubble from one of the chickens says "SAFETY FIRST! EH! JAKE!". The ground is littered with sawdust and wood shavings. The artist's signature "KLOX" is in the bottom left corner.

GASOLINE BOAT LOST ON VOYAGE TO THIS PORT

Hope Abandoned for Vessel
Mac Hyman From Point Arena.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 2.—Hope was abandoned today for the gasoline schooner Mac Hyman. No word of the vessel or her crew of four has been received. The vessel left Point Arena on Monday evening, bound for San Francisco, a trip normally requiring 20 hours.

Tuesday the steamer Balinda reported sighting an upturned vessel fourteen miles off Point Reyes, and it is believed it was the Mac Hyman. There is still hope for the crew, which may have been able to get off in a small boat.

Old C. P. Safe Is Just Like Mother Hubbard's Pantry

SACRAMENTO, June 2.—For fifty years the old safe of the Central Pacific has defied the artifice of safecrackers.

For fifty years experts have tried to solve the combination and swing open the heavy doors. For fifty years everyone has wondered what was on the other side of the doors.

For fifty years it was imagined that the safe contained the early secrets of the construction of the Central Pacific railroad.

But today the secret of the safe—hidden for half a century—was disclosed. The heavy doors swung open and within the safe was found—nothing. Pigeon holes and drawers were even bare of dust. Two small pieces of iron that had been broken from the safe before it was last closed fifty years ago, was all that the safe contained.

The Oriental slave girl of San Francisco's Chinatown is no more fragment of an active imagination. Ah Choy, a Chinese woman journalist, and a graduate of an American college, is writing of slavery conditions in that western Nocturnal of the Celestials for Sunday's tomorrow's Magazine Section of The TRIBUNE.

MRS. CLARK SANE, ASSERTS SHAY IN SPEECH TO JURY

Deputy District Attorney in Address Compares Woman
With Himself.

Frank M. Shay, chief deputy district attorney, today compared his own life history with that of Mrs. Virginia Clark, on trial for the alleged murder of her husband, in support of an assertion that Mrs. Clark, whose defense is temporary insanity, is as sane as he is himself.

Allentists for the defense have told you, Shay said to the jury in his opening argument for the state, "that Mrs. Clark is shown to be insane by the fact that she was at ways dissatisfied with her environment and shifted from one line of work to another."

"I have been a sailor, a stevedore and heaven alone knows how many other things before I became a lawyer. I didn't like loading ships or shoveling coal, or many of the other things I did. Yet I don't think that meant I was crazy."

Shay was followed by Arthur Dalila Thompson, associate counsel for the defense, who declared that Mrs. Clark's mind had not followed the progress of her trial, but had been dreaming irrational dreams while attorneys fought out the question of her fate.

Closing arguments for the defense and prosecution respectively will be made by C. A. McGee and Assistant District Attorney Theodore P. Witschens. It is not expected that the case will go to the jury before Tuesday.

RADIO USED IN HUNT FOR S. F. AUTO BANDITS

Police Urge All Broadcasting
Stations to Send Out Call for Information.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 2.—The radio was utilized today in an effort to obtain clues to the automobile bandits who killed Mrs. Anna Wilkens last Tuesday night.

Captain of Detectives Duncan Matheson requested all broadcasting stations to send out requests for scraps of information regarding mysterious machines or any other unexplained facts that might aid the police in their search. He asks that they be sent back by wireless or by any other method of communication.

J. Dorfinkel, the attorney, who aided Wilkens, following the shooting, has given the police a description of a car of ancient vintage, with an engine back, which he believes was the bandit machine and which he says he would be able to identify if he saw it again.

TWO MEN GRILLED.

The grilling of two men by the police, each offering a $5000 reward and the report that one of the bandits may have fled to Los Angeles, are the latest developments in the case of Mrs. Anna Wilkens, who was shot and killed by automobile bandits Tuesday night.

W. H. Castor and Arthur Castor, brothers, were questioned for several hours by the police last night concerning the crime. They had in their possession two $100 bills. Two bills of this denomination were taken from Wilkens at the time of the holdup. Wilkens was unable to identify the men and they were ordered released.

Captain of Detectives Duncan Matheson said, however, that he was not through with his investigation of the pair, but that he expected to do further investigation, any charge against them, so far.

The Castors were taken into custody at a local garage during a dispute over a bill for repairs. One of the men displayed a $100 bill, which aroused the garage man's suspicions.

When questioned the men are said to have told conflicting stories. The money which the bandits took from Wilkens was procured by him in a business transaction in Sacramento. An effort is being made to trace the number of the bill.

"I am not at all satisfied with the account the men give of the possession of the bills," Captain Matheson declared. "There is not sufficient evidence at hand to warrant charging these men with murder, but if the detinue book were still in existence I would hold them in prison pending a further investigation. The inquiry will continue, and if additional evidence is secured, the men will be re-arrested."

As a matter of protection for motorists against automobile bandits, the California State Automobile Association, in co-operation with the San Francisco Motor Club, the city's Association of Automobile Dealers, has started a drive to procure $5000 to be given as a reward for information leading to the arrest and conviction of the slayer of Mrs. Wilkens.

President George S. Forrester has authorized Secretary-Manager D. E. Watkins to contribute $500 from the organization as a nucleus for the reward. He will direct the campaign to raise the complete amount. The fund had grown to considerably more than $1500 yesterday, and it was stated that the entire amount would probably be raised within 48 hours.

In this connection it was stated that the association intends to raise a permanent fund of several thousand dollars to be used as rewards for information leading to the arrest and conviction of criminals preying upon the motoring public.

Henry Wilkens, husband of the woman who was killed, and C. W. White, an automobile man, furnished information suggesting that the slayer and his companions had fled south. While the automobile was damaged in a collision with a car which has been practically identified as that of the bandits.

Patrick A. Cox, Early Merchant, Dies

Patrick A. Cox, well-known Oakland pioneer merchant, and owner of the Cox & Company Grocery at Seventh and Market streets, died yesterday at the age of 76 years.

Cox, who was a native of Ireland, took an active part in local politics several years ago. He was a widower, and leaves two sons, George and John Cox, both of this city.

The funeral will take place tomorrow at 9 a. m. from the Oakland parlors of Freeman & Cox-Roach & Kenny, 2630 Telegraph avenue. A requiem high mass will be celebrated at St. Mary's church at 9:30. Interment will be at St. Mary's cemetery.

Reception Arranged For Miss La Ganche

The women members of the supervisory department of the Oakland public schools will entertain Miss Florence M. LaGanche, director of Avenue economics, at a tea at the Hotel Oakland Saturday from 3 to 5 p. m. Miss LaGanche has been three years with the Oakland school department and returns to her home at Cleveland at the end of the present semester.

The room will be a bower of blossoms for the tea, whose participants will include all the women principals of the schools and the following: Mrs. Fred Hunter, Mrs. E. Morris Cox, Mrs. Lewis E. Avery, Mrs. Lloyd D. Barzee, Mrs. V. E. Dickson, Mrs. Daisy L. Short, Mrs. Maurice Carey, of San Francisco; Mrs. R. L. Granger, Mrs. L. F. Cauden, Mrs. J. E. Anderson, Mrs. Alvin Foyell, Mrs. Jay B. Nash, Mrs. Glenn Woods.

A program of singing and dancing has been arranged. The committee in charge will include Miss Laura Boone, Miss May Schlander, Miss Maude Wilkes, Miss Ida Vandergaw, Miss Henrietta Johnson and Mrs. Sue L. Fratis.

Board Petitioned to Ban School Dances

Protesting against dancing in the public schools on the ground that "it is detrimental to the moral interests of our children," a petition signed by 200 persons has been mysteriously presented to the board of education.

Just before the meeting yesterday two women appeared in the corridor outside the meeting place and presented the petition to one of the attendants. The two women did not remain for the meeting or give their names.

The petition is written on varicolored sheets of paper in long-hand.

"A paragraph of the Political Code," said Superintendent of Schools Fred M. Hunter, "compels us to use the schools as community centers. If the residents of the communities choose to dance, I see no way to avoid it, so long as they are well-behaved."

The matter was referred to him for a report.

Einstein is to be proved or disproved. Just how this will be gone about is told by Edward Condon in "Chasing a Beam of Light," which will be published in The TRIBUNE Sunday.

MOTION PICTURE POSSIBILITIES OF OAKLAND PRAISED

Isadore Bernstein Gives Out Plan to Make City Big Producing Center.

Oakland's possibilities of replacing Los Angeles as a moving picture center were extolled today by Isadore Bernstein, creator of Universal City and manager of the West Coast Film Company, who, with Miss Maria Draga and Munroe Salisbury, well-known screen stars, is spending a few days in this city. According to the producer, Oakland and the bay region have many natural advantages that Southern California does not possess for the filming of motion picture plays, and many companies—not "money grabbing fly-by-night" concerns—would be glad to locate here if the local public would get behind the movement.

"The entire trouble," Bernstein said, "is that the people do not seem sufficiently awake to take the advantages offered by the motion picture industry. If 200 of the city's live business men would guarantee a certain sum a month for one year Oakland would be a second Universal City."

"Within thirty days after the contract was signed I could move a company here, erect a studio and have the first picture labeled 'Made in Oakland' on the market in sixty days."

Bernstein, who created Universal City and is the discoverer of Miss Draga, a former Oakland girl, said there was no doubt that in a year's time Oakland would be fairly on the road toward passing Los Angeles in the movie industry.

"The Bernstein plan for the people of Oakland is to get behind a project for a genuine motion picture plant here, Miss Draga, who is only 15 years old, lent a girlish appeal."

"I wish they would," she said eagerly. "This is my home, and I would so much like to work here."

Cafe Is Ordered to Remove Partitions

MODESTO, June 2.—In the absence of both Chief of Police Smith and Police Commissioner Turner, Mayor Ulrich yesterday personally called on the proprietors of the California Cafe to remove booths from their dining room within five days if they wish to avoid arrest.

The mayor acted upon receipt of a pitiful letter from a Modesto woman who declared she had found her daughter in one of the booths and that she was being mistreated there. She asked the mayor to have them removed so that the girls of Modesto might be safeguarded.

Ulrich found an ordinance enacted thirteen years ago which covered the matter.

MAN FALLS SIX STORIES, IS NOT SERIOUSLY HURT

SHREVEPORT, La., June 2.—After falling six stories from his office window yesterday, G. W. He was only slightly injured, his doctor said today.

New Features in Eastbay Market

Something new in the way of meat markets is promised by W. H. Hobbs, who is installing a new shop in the Eastbay Market at Nineteenth and Williams streets, according to announcement today. According to Hobbs a feature of his shop will be a huge refrigerator between the counters where all meats and poultry will be displayed behind plate glass. The meat will not be exposed to the air and dust from the time it enters the shop until it is handed to the customer, according to the plan. The shop also is equipped with pedestal wash basins behind the counters where the hands and instruments of the butchers may be sterilized.

The novel meat market is one

COSTLY BROTHERS GIVE S. F. SEALS THIRD WIN OVER OAKS

TECHNICAL HI DEFEATS OAKLAND AND ANNEXES LOCAL ATHLETIC LEAGUE BALL TITLE

BRENTON DEFEATED, BUT HE DISPLAYS A LOT OF GOOD HURLING

Boots by Ray Brubaker, Oakland Shortstop, Aid Seals in Winning for Third Time.

By EDDIE MURPHY
Lynn Brenton, right-handed pitcher for the Oakland ball club, who has been handicapped most of the season with a sore arm, yesterday afternoon displayed some of his old class which earned him a job with the Cincinnati Reds, although he failed to put a stop to the San Francisco Seals winning over the Oaks. Brenton pitched his best ball of the season for the locals at Recreation Park, but the breaks were against him, and the Seals got away with a 4 to 3 win. He held the transbay sluggers to seven scattered hits, and if he can pitch the same brand of ball from now on, he is going to be a big help to the Oaks. Brenton was given a good rest by Manager Ivan Howard, who believed that it would do his pitcher good. Errors by Ray Brubaker, Oakland shortstop, helped the Seals to two of the runs they scored against Brenton. The real fatal boot was made in the ninth inning, when after getting two on base Brenton purposely walked Kiluff to fill the bags. Bert Ellison then hit Brubaker and with a force out at the plate in sight, he booted.

That boot put an end to the ball game, as the score read 3 to 3 at the time. Brenton's teammates gave him a three-run lead before the Seals could break into the run column. In the first inning Don Brown got a hit and advanced on a bunt. Cooper walked to fill the bags with none out, and Brown scored when Cather lifted a fly to O'Connell in centerfield. Cather, who decorated the mound for the Seals, did some swell pitching in this frame, as he got by with Brown scoring the only run. LaFayette, who has been pounding the pill all over the San Francisco lot, popped to Yelle, and Brubaker forced Cooper at second.

A couple of other fellows besides Ray Brubaker made it impossible for Brenton to win the contest. After the Oaks had built the lead up to three runs, when Willie was hit by a pitched ball, Cooper singled, and LaFayette chased both runners home with a double in the third, the Seals got two runs. Another Yelle single, and Rhyne worked a double steal, and after Walsh failed, Yelle was purposely walked to fill the bags, and Cumber, after fouling a couple of line drives, went out to Kemp.

Brenton got a hit in the Oaks part of the ninth, but Rhyne snared Brown's line drive and turned it into a double play. Then came the fatal error on the part of the Seals. Kelly was the first batter and drew a walk. Compton put him on third with a single he lunched off LaFayette's glove. Brenton and Koehler decided they should walk Kiluff and fill the bases. That they did, and next came Ellison with his fast groundout to Brubaker, who booted a chance to get a runner to the plate, and the ball game was over.

FRENCH MAY DEFAULT.
PARIS—The French Davis Cup team may decide to default out of the tennis classic this summer because of the lack of funds necessary to make the trip to America to play Australia in the third round.

Beavers Win In the Thirteenth From Senators

PORTLAND, June 2.—A home run by Brazil with a man on base broke up yesterday's game with Sacramento here yesterday to give the Beavers a 6-to-5 victory over the Senators. The two teams went into extra innings with the score at 5 to 3. Sacramento scored one in the eleventh, only to have Portland tie up in their half, and scored in the first of the thirteenth. Victor Hale on base Brazil delivered his circuit clutch to pull the game from the first. Canfield went the distance for the Senators, while Brubaker pitched well in the extra session and got credit for the victory after having been in danger twice.

Coast League Heads Meet on Klepper Case

It Is Expected That They Will Ask Landis to Modify Sentence.

It was rumored in the hotel lobby this morning that the directors of the Coast League will request Commissioner Landis to modify his sentence handed to President William H. Klepper of the Portland club.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 2.—Pacific League directors gathered in San Francisco today to put to a test for the first time on the coast a decision by Judge Landis, baseball dictator. They will consider what move the league is to make in the matter of the suspension of William H. Klepper and James R. Brewster, president and vice-president respectively of the Portland club, as a result of their part in the so-called "Kenworthy" case.

League officers and fans on the inside today saw these courses, which the league might take: Support Judge Landis and demand that Brewster and Klepper withdraw from management of the Portland club and sell their interests. Maybe just do nothing and let Judge Landis do the worrying. Support Brewster and Klepper and continue to recognize them as the heads of the Portland organization. The first course would mean total reorganization of Portland, and that would mean a new club from the northern city indicates it might have serious consequences in the relations of Portland and the remainder of the league. The second course might bring down the wrath of Judge Landis upon the league, with even a possibility of making it an outlaw organization. Few, however, thought that Landis would go that far.

A full attendance is expected at the meeting. Brewster, Klepper and W. H. Lane of Salt Lake arrived yesterday. Others were expected on morning trains. Portland sent a lawyer along and it was expected the league attorney would be on hand to advise as to the legal status of the thing and how it affects contracts and the like.

Many feared the lawyers would make speeches.

Salt Lake Bees Hit Plenty to Win 12-8 Game From Seattle

SEATTLE, June 2.—Three Seattle twirlers failed to check the batting activities of Duffy Lewis' Bees here yesterday afternoon and the victors triumphed with the long end of a 12 to 8 count. Seattle made a bid for fame at the start but their lead was wiped out by the fourth inning and in a free hitting contest Salt Lake continued to score at a rate of two to one for the remainder of the game. Jacobs, Mack and Hendrix having pitched the fourth, fifth and sixth, the victory for Salt Lake although he gave way to Kollis for the last two innings.

Pomona Nine Wins S. C. Baseball Title

CLAREMONT, Cal., June 2.—Pomona College defeated the University of Redlands, 6 to 2, here yesterday and won the baseball championship of the Southern California Conference.

Pomona tied with the California Institute of Technology and the University of California, southern branch, in the number of games won this season, but was conceded the championship because it was champion last year. Score: P. H. E. Redlands..... 2 12 5 Pomona..... 6 2 2 Batteries—Allen, Jensen and Allee; Walker, R. Wilson and Bassler.

THIS TIME LAST YEAR
All records for receipts were broken when Tex Rickard announced he had $650,000 in hand for Dempsey-Carpenter fight tickets. Carpenter took a day's rest at his makeshift training camp. For the first time Duncan knocked a home over the left field fence in the Cincinnati park, scoring twenty-six runs in seventeen consecutive games did not get on first once off Shawkey. Yanks. Ty Cobb hit a homer and beat the Boston Red Sox.

Former Oak, Now with Reds

BABE PINELLI, third baseman of the Oaks last season and considered the best of those holding down that position in the Pacific Coast League during the 1931 season, is having a successful season with the Cincinnati Reds. Pinelli has been hitting the agate at a merry clip and has been holding his own with the best of them in the field. He is due to stick in the big brush this time from all accounts.

Old-Time Churchmen Stage a Ball Game

SALT LAKE CITY, June 2.—Ishbe Ruth had better keep close watch on his title as the premier swatman of baseball, for he has a rival in the person of Homer Church, president of the Mormon church. Yesterday a team composed entirely of high church officers met and defeated, 6 to 5, a team of officials of Granite Stake of the church. President Church pitched the winning nine and he got in some heavy stick work, laming the first batter to him in the first inning for a single. Many of the participants in the contest, including President Grant, are over 60 years old. Apostle Anthony W. Ivins acted as umpire.

Illini Athletes Are Big Ten Favorites

IOWA CITY, Iowa, June 2.—Coach Harry Gill's Illini ruled as favorites when Western conference track stars went into the preliminary events today for the first of the most spectacular meets in conference history tomorrow. Trials in all the track events up to half mile distance and in field events, except the pole vault, were held today with the finals scheduled for tomorrow. The meet is the twenty-second renewal of the conference classic and Iowa City's first experience in holding the annual event. Coaches and athletes expected new conference records in the high jump and javelin and were prepared to see fourth-second watches tick off new records in some of the track events.

Low Tender Meets R. Barrett Tonight

PHILADELPHIA, June 2.—Tender, Philadelphia lightweight, who has been matched to meet Benny Leonard, the world's champion, in a 12-round bout at Jersey City, and Bobby Barrett, the hard-hitting Clifton "Highway" boxer, will meet there tonight in an eight-round bout. Barrett, who has been boxing only about two years, knocked out Hyman Gold of California in three rounds, a feat which took Tender seven rounds to accomplish. HUNTER WASN'T CHANCE. Al Nolan at 66 North street, San Francisco, is a shortstop anxious to catch on with a local semi-pro team for the summer season. He has played in the San Joaquin Valley and Sonoma leagues at both second and short, hitting around .300.

Giants Have Had a Tough Time on Road

Pittsburgh and St. Louis Will Make Race Interesting For McGraw.

By HENRY L. FARRELL, (United Press Staff Correspondent)
NEW YORK, June 2.—John McGraw will be glad to get his Giants back home for a long stay. They have been going poorly. On their first western trip they have done everything but blow the big lead they piled up on the home lot. The pitchers are going bad and the shoes of George Burns are still empty. They will be empty for some time. McGraw used to have a good road club but his aggregation this year seems to get homesick easily. Just after the start it looked as if the Giants would be "in" about the middle of July. They still look like pennant winners but they may not have the ramp to another championship that was predicted. The Pittsburgh Pirates, rid of the disturbers that blew the pennant away late in the race last year, are coming along strong and the St. Louis Cardinals always will have to be figured.

Entries For Kennel Show Close Saturday

Entries for the San Rafael Kennel Club's second annual dog show to be held on Sunday, June 11th, at San Rafael, will close next Saturday, with Superintendent John E. Holbrook, at 523 Market street. As the exhibition has been sanctioned by the American Kennel Club there will positively be no entries accepted after Sunday. Local officials of the club predict that between 275 and 300 prize-winning dogs will be on exhibition when the show opens. Cash prizes aggregating $200, and fifty special prizes, including twenty-eight trophies, will be awarded the winners in the various classes. The club's bench show committee is exceedingly active and elaborate plans are being formulated for the affair which promises to surpass anything ever held by the San Rafael Club. The bench show committee consists of A. S. Decourcy, chairman; W. J. Moffett, W. T. Osborne, Paul Loveland and Mrs. W. L. Colver.

Dutch Leonard Is Signed by Fresno

FRESNO, June 2.—Hubert "Dutch" Leonard of the Detroit American League club, yesterday signed a contract to pitch for the Fresno club in the San Joaquin Valley League. The addition of Leonard gives the Fresno club a former world's series battery as he and Thomas were members of the Detroit team. Leonard was a winning pitcher and world's series in 1915, 1916 and 1918.

Charleston Team May Win Fleet Title

SAN DIEGO, June 2.—Hitting Wyatt, crack pitcher of the U. S. New York baseball team hard and taking advantage of errors behind him, the U. S. S. Charleston club scored four runs in the first inning yesterday and defeated the Knickerbockers, 7 to 2. In the first game of the series for the 1932 Pacific fleet diamond championship. The Charleston players made four hits in the opening inning. Lefty Stein, Charleston pitcher, was in fine form and held the New York club to four scattered hits, only one of these being made in the second inning when the losers made their two runs. Wyatt checked the Charleston crew after the first frame until the sixth, when three hits netted as many runs. Some six fans and cheering sailors and officers viewed the game.

Vernon Evens Series With Killifer Men

LOS ANGELES, June 2.—Vernon and Los Angeles battled all evening terms up to the seventh inning of yesterday's game when Chadbourne and Smith pounded the offerings of Lyons too far to do the Angels any good. A pair of runs crossing in both the seventh and eighth for the Tigers to put the game on ice by a score of 6-3. Lyons went wild in the eighth frame and started issuing transportation to all who faced him, three walks and Baldwin's error presenting the Essick men with two runs without lifting a bat from their shoulders and Blumrich was rushed to the scene to prevent the game developing into a track meet.

Technical Hi Wins Diamond Championship

Oakland Goes Down to 4-to-3 Defeat in a Tight Ball Game.

By defeating Oakland High 4 to 3 in a thrilling game yesterday afternoon, Technical High annexed the baseball championship for the Oakland Athletic League. The game was played at the Oakland Coast League Park. The game was a fight from start to finish. Those who fondly hoped that Captain Butler's hard-hitting crew of Purple and Gold ball tossers would win through the Blue and White nine from Oakland High changed their views when the Oakland boys commenced to connect with some of Butler's pitches early in the encounter. A pitching duel between Al Levitt, moundman for Oakland High, and Butler, curve artist for the Technical team, was the feature. Both showed a lot of stuff. Levitt showed up well when in the third inning, with a trio of purple stockings men occupying the bags and one down, he fanned Dyson and Fitzgerald. He repeated the same feat in the next inning. Hughes, shortstop for the Oakland nine, made four errors. Coach Sam Daugherty's lads from Oakland appeared to be at their best form for the 1932 season, as their team has defeated every other team in the league. Fremont plays Vocational today. The little fellows of the league, University and Vocational, will battle for fourth place in the final game of the season on Monday, the loser having the cellar championship wished on him. The score of yesterday's game:

LAMBA PRICES GET A POUND; DEMAND ACTIVE

Sugar Prices Declared Near Their Maximum by Head of Large Refinery.

Lamb prices were up a cent a pound today with prospects that the market might go higher. The supply is said to be limited with active demand. Beef prices are firm but no immediate changes are looked for by the packers and wholesalers.

The rise of 10 cents a hundred in sugar announced two days ago is declared by Claus A. Spreckels to be the highest price the sugar will go. Spreckels, who is president of the Federal Sugar Refinery at Yonkers, N. Y., the largest in the world, arrived from the east yesterday.

The basis for his views on prices, Spreckels said, was that there is still a very large amount of sugar to be shipped from the United States for the present season to date has been between 500,000 and 600,000 tons more than during the corresponding period of 1921.

"It is generally argued by those who want prices raised that this sugar has been consumed. But in my opinion," Spreckels said, "this sugar has not been consumed."

"Refiners will find that their share of the country will be less, and for this reason."

Arrivals today included 2 cars of sugar. The average of arrivals were nominal with prices unchanged.

Berries were firm and will probably remain so as the canners are now taking holdover stuff.

TRAINING CAMP
BOOSTED TO 1200

Few More Days to Be Allowed for Filing of Applications By Citizens.

Word was received today that California's quota for the Citizens' Military Training Camps has been raised from 1000 to 1200. It was announced that a few more days will be allowed for filing applications, to give prospective applicants a chance to arrange their personal affairs so that they may attend the camps.

Men who desire to attend are urged to write immediately to the Chief of Staff Headquarters, 51st Division, Presidio, San Francisco. The camp will be held from July 6 to August 7 at the Presidio of San Francisco. Training will be given in any branch of the service desired.

BUILDERS HEAR
WATER, POWER
PLAN DENOUNCED

S. F. Speaker Says the Bill Would Vest Interests in Politicians.

There would be as much sense in turning over the electric power business to politicians as there would be in turning the agricultural business over to be conducted by any Garden, Grover O'Connor of San Francisco said today in a meeting at the Builders' Exchange. O'Connor directed all of his remarks against the water and power act, and among other things, said: "No matter what alluring language they use, proponents of the proposed water and power amendment to the State Constitution cannot escape the charge that they are doing their utmost to prevail upon the people of this State to hand themselves over to a few millions of dollars in order that the electric power business may be turned over to politicians."

"There would be as much horse sense in turning over the electric power business to politicians as there would be in turning the agricultural business over to be conducted by Mary Garden. As a grand opera singer Miss Garden is a success, but we would have to wait a long time for products if we turned our farms over to her for management."

"Let the dreamers who advocate this measure say what they will. They cannot successfully controvert the fact that one of the questions to be decided by the people by their vote on the measure in November is: Trained men or politicians? Which shall it be to conduct our electric power business in the future?"
